LONDON — (AP) — Buckingham Palace said tonight King George has not been operated upon and probably will not be tonight.

LONDON — (AP) — Anxious Britons waited today for news that their beloved King George VI has undergone an operation for his mysterious lung disease. While some 1,500 persons stood silent vigil outside Buckingham Palace this morning, five of the king's doctors hurried into the royal residence at about 8:30 a. m. (3:30 a. m. EST).

Stiff Michigan Laws Proposed To Fight Dope

LANSING — (AP) — Governor Williams called on the state bar of Michigan today to consider a constitutional amendment to help fight narcotics peddlers.

The amendment would allow policemen to introduce in evidence any narcotics seized on a person without a search warrant, the same as now is permitted in cases of guns, bombs and blackjacks.

Under present constitutional law, narcotics seized without a warrant or reasonable belief that they are being possessed cannot form the basis for a prosecution.

The amendment was recommended by the Permanent Committee on Law Enforcement composed of all law enforcement agencies.

It was defeated by the 1951 legislature.

Williams said "since this proposal involves a change in one of the most important sections of the constitution, protecting individual rights, I think it should be thoroughly studied by competent legal minds."

Williams conceded indirectly that he was asking the bar to act upon short notice, since the bar meets in Detroit late this month, but he said he desired its viewpoint before the legislature meets next January.

"The brutal murder of a nurse in Ann Arbor by three youths," Williams said, "one of whom admitted peddling narcotics to school children, again emphasizes the need for better enforcement of the anti-narcotic law."

War Danger Dimmed, Shouse Tells Truman

WASHINGTON — (AP) — A former top Democratic party leader has told President Truman he believes the danger of war "is out the window for several years to come."

Jouett Shouse, former executive director of the Democratic National committee and now a Washington lawyer, saw Mr. Truman yesterday to report on a recent private trip to Germany, France and Switzerland.

He said he was impressed by the improved "psychology" of Western Europe and told Mr. Truman war prospects were dimmer now.

Blunders Bared In Democratic Money-Raising

Michigan Shakedown Tactics Odiferous

By JACK I. GREEN
LANSING — (AP) — Michigan Democrats can't stand many more disclosures of their tactless fund-raising tactics.

There have been three instances now since the Democratic party began to stuff its coffers for the 1952 campaign—and the last one would seem to be the worst.

First came the gleeful report by prominent Republicans, including Secretary of State Fred M. Alger, Jr., G.O.P. candidate for governor, that he and others have received solicitations from the Democrats for party cash.

Just A Mistake
This was laughed off as one of those mailing list mistakes which crop up in almost everybody's camp during a political race.

It would seem to outsiders they have occurred often enough that campaign managers now would give their mailing lists a fine scrutiny.

The second incident was that of a voluntary—and minor—fund-raiser in Wayne county who was found to have been hinting to certain people they might be able to get a liquor license if they kicked in a little cash for the Democrats.

The Williams' administration caught this one itself and made it public before the Republicans could do so, thus getting their alibi in first.

Higher-ups Involved
But the last one, disclosed Thursday in Washington, is not one which can be laughed off and is not the work of a minor party hack.

Congressman George Meader of Ann Arbor put the finger on it in Congress, accusing the Democratic state command of trying to shake down candidates for postmaster-ships.

Williams was quick with his reply that it happened last July, that only 20 of the shakedown

Polio Is Past Peak For 1951

(By The Associated Press)
The crippling killer, polio, appears definitely to have passed its peak for 1951, the state health department reports.

And overall, its ravages so far this year in Michigan appear to have been relatively light.

Through August, the department says, only 20 persons had died of the disease for which no sure cure is known.

And to date, 1,011 persons have suffered it in one form or another. This compares with 932 at the same time last year and 2,133 in the critical year of 1949.

The disease this year has been mild in most cases, according to Dr. F. S. Leeder, director of the department's communicable disease control bureau.

"There has been very little crippling," he noted. "Most of the patients have recovered."

Dr. Leeder said that the situation now looks "very good," and added that he regards the death rate as "very low."

In all of last year, 41 persons died of the disease. In 1949, a total of 126 persons perished from its effects.

Hollywood Reds Still Exist But Days Are Lean

By GRAHAM BERRY
LOS ANGELES — (AP) — Communists and their front organizations still exist in Hollywood, but they have fallen on lean days.

This is the substance of a hectic week of testimony from seven cooperative and 26 "fifth amendment" witnesses before a House sub-committee of un-American activities.

The witnesses disclosed activities.

The witnesses disclosed that:

1. While once there were about 500 Reds among the film industry's 40,000 workers, that number was greatly reduced after World War II when the United States and Russia ceased to be allies.

2. Communists tried futilely to influence the content of movies by attempting to infiltrate the Screen Writers' Guild, which at the peak had 50 Reds among 900 to 1,000 Guild members.

3. Reds milked Hollywood of millions of dollars and sponsored front organizations like the anti-Nazi league to which many non-Communists contributed heavily.

At times the sessions were slowed by witnesses who insisted on taking refuge behind the fifth constitutional amendment. This amendment says no person shall be required to give testimony that would incriminate him.

The witnesses represented many professions: screen writers, doctors, dentists, screen press agents, actors, actresses and teachers. Two women witnesses wrote western movies.

Chairman Of Both Parties Linked To RFC Loan Scandals

By JACK BELL AND JOHN CHADWICK

WASHINGTON — (AP) — Three Republican senators said today if Guy G. Gabrielson can't successfully explain his purported connection with an RFC loan he should resign as Republican national chairman.

Senator Williams (R-Del.) told the Senate yesterday he was informed Gabrielson, acting as a $15,000 a year counsel, petitioned the Reconstruction Finance corporation to extend the terms of a loan to Cathage Hydrocol, of Texas, due October 1.

Williams' blast brought the chairman of the national committees of both the Democratic and Republican parties under fire for alleged unethical mingling of private profit with public life.

The Senate investigations subcommittee headed by Senator Hoey (D-N. C.) is digging into charges of the St. Louis Post Dispatch that William M. Boyle, Jr., Democratic party committee chief, was paid $8,000 by the American Lithofold Co., St. Louis printing firm which got $645,000 in RFC loans. Boyle, who has not yet appeared before the subcommittee, has told newsmen he received $1,250 from Lithofold, for legal services not connected with the RFC loans and before he became a paid party official.

Soon after Williams spoke in the Senate, Gabrielson telegraphed Hoey from New York that there was a "misunderstanding" of his activities in behalf of Cathage Hydrocol, a gasoline manufacturing process firm of which Gabrielson is president as well as general counsel. Friends said, however, his real position is more nearly that of a trustee in an arrangement in which an inventor retains half interest.

He asked for a hearing today, but was told by chairman Hoey (D-N. C.), of the Senate investigating committee he would have to wait until an "early date."

The hearings of the subcommittee will be resumed Monday.

Saturday Session Called By Senate To Push Tax Bill

By JOE HALL

WASHINGTON — (AP) — The Senate called an unusual Saturday session today to get some action on the debate-stalled $5,500,000 tax increase measure.

The controversial new proposed tax on mutual savings banks and savings and loan associations faced debate as the session opened.

Unexpected opposition to this amendment—which would tax savings and loan groups for the first time—has led to predictions that the tax may be softened or possibly killed.

So far no amendments have been acted on in three days of debate on the big bill. Dozens are pending and those backing the measure are reconciled to the fact that consideration will continue well into next week.

Ford Intrigue Bared By Book

DETROIT — (AP)—Harry Bennett, in a book on his onetime boss, the late Henry Ford, gives a number of private recollections.

Bennett says that Ford was at times ruthless, tricking subordinates into acts for which they were fired, and that there was intrigue among Ford's executives for his favor.

Ford watched his employees so closely that even their family lives were checked and informers were kept in company offices and plants, Bennett says.

Bennett served Ford as a top aide for 30 years. He left the company in 1945 when Ford became inactive in its affairs. Ford died in 1947.

The famed automobile manufacturer was superstitious, according to Bennett. If he put a sock on inside out in the morning he'd never change it all day long, Bennett writes.

Bennett remarks also about Ford's interest in crime and criminals and his hiring of ex-convicts in the expressed hope of rehabilitating them.

Bennett's book is titled "We Never Called Him Henry."

Reds Believed Anxious To End Fighting Quickly

Allied Commander Takes His Time

By TOM BRADSHAW

TOKYO — (AP)—An Allied reply to the Communist offer to resume the Korean armistice talks was expected momentarily today.

What form it would take was anyone's guess. All that was known officially was that Gen. Matthew B. Ridgway was at work on a reply at 10:15 a. m.

That much was announced by headquarters of the supreme United Nations commander.

No More Incidents
The big question was whether Ridgway would authorize immediate resumption of the talks, or whether he would ask for certain concessions.

The Communists broke off the talks Aug. 23. They charged the Allies had violated the five-mile neutral zone around Kaesong, the negotiation site northwest of Seoul.

They proposed an "immediate" resumption of the talks, presumably at Kaesong, in a note to Ridgway Thursday.

Ridgway, however, proposed on Sept. 6 that the negotiations be moved away from Kaesong. He wanted the talks to resume in an area free from the risk of "incidents" such as the Reds complained of.

Violations Faked
While Ridgway has not insisted on changing the site, he might demand that the Kaesong neutral zone be patrolled by both sides.

The U. N. command has declared that most of the alleged "violations" of the truce zone were fabricated by the Communists. It has, however, admitted two accidental violations.

A joint patrol would be a

Jet Battle Rages Over MIG Alley

U. S. EIGHTH ARMY HEADQUARTERS, Korea—(AP)—Nearly 120 American and Communist jet warplanes today fought for 25 minutes high over "Mig Alley" in northwest Korea in what may have been history's biggest jet battle.

U. S. pilots reported they damaged three Red Mig-15s.

The battle swirled from 37,000 feet down to 20,000 feet.

On the East-Central front, Allied infantrymen Saturday hurled another attack at the highest peak of "heartbreak ridge."

United Nations warplanes roared through clear blue skies and hammered troops in their deep bunkers.

Little action was reported from the central front, where allied tanks Friday smashed almost to Pyongyang in an armored raid through the old Red "Iron Triangle," 29 miles north of Parallel 38.

U. N. officers estimated the Reds lost nearly 1,000 men killed or wounded in the action.

They said that only one of the four tank-tipped forces on the raid ran into trouble. It had to fight out of a curtain of anti-tank mortar, artillery and small arms fire.

In Oregon, state police estimated a blaze along Santiam creek in the Willamette valley had covered more than 13,000 acres by midnight Friday. About 100 miles to the northwest, a smoldering fire in the Tillamook burn raged across 9,000 acres in 12 hours.

SAN FRANCISCO — (AP)—The head of the nation's Letter Carriers Union today called upon President Truman to fire Postmaster General Jesse M. Donaldson.

William C. Doherty, the postal union chief and a vice-president of the AFL, described Donaldson as "the most tyrannical administrator ever to hold office" in the mail service.

Gas Wrecks 8 Blocks Of Homes; 3 Killed In Rochester, N. Y. Suburb

By OWEN J. CRUMB

ROCHESTER, N. Y. — (AP) — Stunned citizens of fashionable suburban Brighton today halfheartedly began picking up debris from a series of terrific natural gas explosions that shredded or set fire to 31 residences.

Three persons died yesterday in the explosions, which sent homes in an eight-block area booming skyward with a noise "like a giant string of firecrackers." An estimated 20 to 25 persons were injured.

New York's state safety commissioner, Thomas W. Ryan, arrived early today to join a many-pronged investigation into the cause of the blast, which probably caused damage of approximately $1,000,000.

As the state, Monroe county, city and town of Brighton officials began an investigation, the president of the Rochester Gas & Electric Co., said a workman's lantern may have touched off the chain reaction explosions.

Alexander M. Beebe added that a regulator valve in a principal main apparently failed. He said an explosive mixture may have accumulated then in the regulator vault beneath the street and been ignited through a vent by a lantern left nearby at a sidewalk construction project.

Fifteen homes were demolished and 16 others damaged by the explosions or resulting fires. The injured included six firemen.

department is urging growers to put in storage are selling below ceiling prices. With one exception—cotton—they are all below parity. Parity is a price declared by law to be equally fair to producer and consumer.

Department officials said they are not trying to run farm prices above their ceilings. The department is, stepping in, the officials said, to keep the nation and its farmers from getting hit with an economic boomerang which might result from the hearty farmland response this year to appeals for big crops in the face of national emergency.

Short Supplies Possible
Farm prices have dropped nearly seven per cent since touching a record high last February. This, the agriculture department said yesterday, is a result of big crops produced at government urging.

Department officials said if farm prices do not stay at satisfactory levels, production next year and thereafter may not be so high. That could mean short supplies, with higher prices for the consumer. Or, continued big crops on the market might push farm prices ever lower, with danger of creating a farm depression. Farm depressions in the past signalled general depressions.

Support Rates Up
Meanwhile, to encourage seed growing, the department of agriculture announced yesterday it will pay higher support prices to next year's growers of oats, barley, rye and grain sorghums.

The 1952 and 1951 support rates, respectively, on a national average basis included:

Oats, 78 cents a bushel for 1952 and 72 cents this year; barley, $1.22 and $1.11; rye, $1.42 and $1.30; and grain sorghums, $2.38 per 100 pounds and $2.17.

deliveries and imposed widespread, slashing economies, and Doherty in the last two years has become Donaldson's sharpest critic.

Here for the AFL's 70th convention, Doherty received news of what he called two smashing victories for his union in the past 48 hours.

One was the passage by the House of the postal service employees' pay boost bills—allowing all postal workers yearly increases of $400 to $800, retroactive to July 1.

The other, he said, was acquittal of 14 postal employees at Tacoma, Washington, on charges of conspiring to defraud the government.

Tanguay Named Finance Chief

Replaces Stoll On Board Committee

Harold F. Gustafson, Delta board chairman, today said he has appointed Sup. Omer Tanguay of Bark River chairman of the county finance committee.

Sup. Tanguay, member of the committee for several years, succeeds Charles W. Stoll of Escanaba, who resigned from the board of supervisors following a clash in committee with Chairman Gustafson.

The controversy between Chairman Gustafson and Stoll stemmed largely from a difference of opinion on county expenditures for district relief.

Will Not Reconsider

"My views on welfare and the method of obtaining reports from the welfare department differed from those of the board chairman," Stoll said today when asked if he had decided not to reconsider his resignation, as requested by the Escanaba city council.

Stoll said he told Gustafson last night that he is not reconsidering his decision and that his resignation from the county board is final.

Gustafson appointed Tanguay chairman of the finance committee last night just before the finance committee met with the Delta county social welfare board.

"All details relating to policies and rules of welfare were explained to the finance committee by the welfare board," there were "lots of questions and answers," Gustafson said.

Open to Inspection

Charles Priester of Escanaba, vice chairman of the county finance committee, said after the meeting that "I am inclined to believe everything is in order."

A. M. Gilbert, director of the social welfare board, told the finance committee that direct relief rolls were open to inspection, Priester said. The rolls for each unit—township or city—may be viewed by persons from that unit, but names are not to be published, Priester said Gilbert reported.

Stoll had served as finance committee chairman since 1947. Through the years the county was brought out of the red and will end 1951 with an estimated $40,000 balance. A few years ago the county was more than $36,000 in the red.

Wanted Investigation

The latest clash between Stoll and Gustafson occurred at a committee meeting when the budget was being discussed for the coming year.

Last April Stoll had pressed for an investigation of direct relief spending in Delta county. Stoll's motion was withdrawn at the insistence of Chairman Gustafson, who said that an investigation might cause the State Social Welfare commission to increase Delta county's share of direct relief payments.

No investigation was undertaken. The state in August notified the county that its share of direct relief assistance payments will be increased in the coming year from 15 to 25 per cent.

Want More Money

Last April Stoll also asked at a meeting of the county board of supervisors that the relief rolls be opened to inspection by the supervisors. Chairman Gustafson opposed Stoll's proposal for an inspection of the rolls.

The county social welfare board was asked for an appropriation of $66,000 for the coming year. Last year it asked for $56,821 and received an appropriation of $61,872.

Gustafson today said the finance committee will meet Sept. 26 at the court house in Escanaba with Tanguay as its chairman. Department budget requests, including that of the welfare department, will be reviewed.

The county board will meet in annual appropriation session Oct. 8. In addition to other business the supervisors will appoint a

Objections To Planning Act Center On Rule For Two-Thirds Vote

The problem of city planning in Escanaba was the subject of a lengthy discussion in the council chambers of the city hall this morning by an interested group of more than 50 persons.

The controversies of city planning were reviewed by a group of witnesses. From the meeting was developed a general understanding that many of the controversies may be eliminated by a revision of the regulation requiring two-thirds majority vote of the city council to overrule planning commission action on public land use.

City Attorney Denis McGinnis reported that a resolution by the council eliminating the two-thirds majority requirement would meet the objections of those opposing the present planning commission.

No Planning Is Extravagant
Elmer Krieger of Milwaukee, the city's expert planning consultant, who attended the meeting at his own expense to explain the functions of city planning, reviewed the history of city planning in this country and outlined the objectives.

"City government without city planning is extravagant," Krieger said. "It is not necessary to have a city planning commission but it is expensive not to do so."

Krieger emphasized that a city planning commission should not be a "watchdog of the city council." Its function is to analyze and advise the council but final authority rests with the council, he said.

The planning expert discussed the Michigan municipal planning commission enabling act which establishes the two-thirds requirement for council veto of planning commission's recommendations on public land use. Krieger said that while he does not personally believe the regulation is desirable, it nevertheless is confined only to public land use. On all other matters, the commission's recommendation is simply advisory and the council can ignore the recommendations if it sees fit, Krieger said.

Labor Officials Speak
Representatives of the Trades and Labor Council, Tom Goedert, Jim Doran and Fred Courter, discussed actions of the planning commission in zoning which Goedert and Doran claimed served to keep industry out of Escanaba.

Dale Vinette, chairman of the planning commission, explained that the commission simply upheld the viewpoint of a majority of the property owners in that area by refusing to recommend a change from Class B residential to a commercial zone. The council could have changed that zone if it desired to do so, Vinette said.

Antoine Stefaniak, 1616 11th avenue south, argued that the planning commission and the city council should "work together and keep the outsiders out of city planning." Stefaniak was advised that the council and the city planning commission have been cooperating with each other.

His references to outsiders obviously were directed at Elmer Krieger of Milwaukee. Members of the commission and City Manager Aronson defended Krieger's help in city planning as essential to a successful program.

In the discussion Mayor Pro Tempore Guy Knutson reported that the council, planning commission and members of the Trades and Labor Council could get together in a general discussion to alleviate the objectionable features of the planning commission act.

Vern Marvel Will Address Board

Vern Marvel of St. Louis director of public information of the Midwest area of the American Red Cross, will address a dinner meeting of the Delta county chapter board at the House of Ludington at 7 Wednesday evening, Sept. 26.

Dr. F. C. Anderson, chapter chairman, urged all members of the board to attend. Matters to be considered include the flood control program, Junior Red Cross activities, disaster program and home service activities.

Marvel, an excellent speaker, recently returned from Korea where he was injured in line of duty while serving with the Red Cross.

Phyllis Gibson Of Detroit Is Bride Of Carroll Norden

PERKINS—Miss Phyllis Catherine Gibson, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Guy L. Gibson of Detroit, became the bride of Carroll Raymond Norden, son of Mr. and Mrs. Emil Norden of Perkins at a double ring ceremony Saturday morning, September 15, at 10 in Holy Name church in Detroit.

The service was solemnized by Father L. J. Bresnahan.

Bridal attendants were Miss Joan Livermore and Roger Norden, brother of the bridegroom.

The wedding breakfast for 60 guests was served at the home of the bride's parents.

Among the out-of-town guests were Mrs. Emil Norden of Perkins, Roger Norden of Marquette, and Mr. and Mrs. Harland Norden of Dearborn, brother and sister-in-law of the bridegroom.

After a brief honeymoon the couple will go to Ann Arbor to live. The bride is a student nurse at the University hospital and Mr. Norden is resuming his studies for a degree in science at the University of Michigan.

Health Board Adopts Budget

Sanitarian Training Course Approved

The annual budget of the Delta-Menominee district health department, calling for an estimated expenditure of $57,279, was adopted at a meeting of the Delta-Menominee board of health held here last night.

Board members present were Albert Kipper, chairman, Nevin Reynolds, secretary; Otto R. Eickmeyer, Walter Mantie and Arvid Revall.

Estimated expenditures were broken down in the annual budget as follows: Salaries, $43,323; travel $9,346; and other expenses, $4,610.00; total, $57,279.

Receipts are listed as follows: Federal, general health, $6,667; federal, tuberculosis aid fund, $6,867; state, $8,640; credit balance, July 1, 1951, $1,599.78; local contribution, Menominee county, $14,206.92; Delta county, $16,298.30; total, $57,279.

Explains Budget

The budget was presented by Dr. William Harrison, director, who explained the increases over last year's budget expenditures. A five per cent cost of living salary increase was granted health department employees, effective last July 1.

The sum of $1,500 was also set up to take care of Delta county's contribution toward the Social Security fund for employees, in the event the health department comes under the provisions of this new federal act. If department employees were placed under the Social Security act before Jan. 1, 1953, payments and benefits will be retroactive to June 1, 1951.

Approved By Menominee
The Menominee county board of supervisors has approved the Social Security plan for public employees. The proposal has not been submitted as yet to the Delta county board.

Dr. Harrison explained the variance between Delta county's contribution of $16,298.30 in the new budget as compared to $11,068 in last year's.

After the 1949 budget was adopted, the department had an unforeseen accumulation of $7,200 which was credited to the 1950 budget. This accumulation was caused by the payment of $5,300 to department by the federal government for field training service for nurses and the balance represented a saving of a nurse's salary and travel expenses during a nine-month vacancy in the position. Fifty-five per cent of the $7,200 was credited to Delta county's account in the 1950 budget, which accounts for the difference of about $3,960.

Field Training Program
The board voted to send Thomas Ford, new Menominee county sanitarian, to the Branch-Hillsdale county unit for a one-month supervised field training course.

Dr. Harrison told the board of the possibilities for installing a sanitarian's field training course in the Delta-Menominee district for the benefit of students studying sanitation engineering at the Michigan College of Mining and Technology. If the field course were set up, the Delta-Menominee health district would receive an additional grand of federal funds. The local district already has a field training course for nurses.

Chest Meeting Tuesday Night

Organizations Asked To Submit Budgets

Officers and directors of the Delta County Community Chest will meet at the Escanaba Chamber of Commerce office at 8 Tuesday night, Sept. 25, A. W. Moberg, executive secretary, announced.

Invitations have been issued to representatives of participating organizations to attend the meeting and present a budget of their monetary needs for the coming year. The organizations are the Girl Scouts, Boy Scouts, Camp Fire Girls, Cod Liver Oil Fund, Salvation Army and the Michigan Children's Aid.

Miss McGinnis, Age 87, Dies

Resided In Powers For Past 50 Years

POWERS—Miss Margret McGinnis, 87, long-time resident, died this morning at 9 o'clock at St. Joseph Lloyd hospital in Menominee.

She had been taken there for observation Wednesday. Miss McGinnis was born Aug. 7, 1864, in Cooperstown, Wis., and came here 50 years ago to live with her brother, the late Thomas McGinnis, well-known North Menominee county resident.

Miss McGinnis was a member of St. Francis Xavier church in Spalding, where funeral services will be held Tuesday morning at 9 with Rev. F. Bernard Karal officiating.

She leaves an adopted son, Bernard R. McGinnis, of Milwaukee. Friends may call at the Boyle funeral home in Bark River after 7 p. m. Sunday.

Interment will be in the family lot at the Cooperstown cemetery.

Wells Service Club Sponsoring Card Tournament

WELLS — The Wells Service club, in addition to the recreation program adopted for the young people this year, will sponsor a card tournament for the men of the community, the first session of which will be held Monday evening September 24 at town hall.

All men of the community are invited. The players may select their own game and a free lunch will be served. A spiraled contest in smear and five hundred already is assured.

The Service club has dedicated itself to betterment of the community and wholehearted support is urged in this recreational activity.

William Ranguette Found Not Guilty

William Ranguette, Escanaba, was found not guilty of a charge of driving an auto under the influence of intoxicants, Friday following jury trial before Justice of Peace A. T. Sohlberg, Gladstone.

The case has been pending since July 23 when an auto driven by Ranguette was involved in an accident on Washington avenue.

Witnesses testifying at the trial included Patrolmen Ralph Johnson, Roy Christianson and Joseph Pryal jr., William Ranguette, Dr. Harold Groos, Mr. and Mrs. Tom Roleau and Mrs. Betty Couillard. Members of the jury were Wm. S. Skellenger, G. E. Dehlin, Clyde Cole, Soren Johnson, R. A. Male and Oliver Gabrielson.

This case was initiated in court of Justice Henry Ranguette, brother of William, in Escanaba. A change of venue was granted to court of Justice O. C. Estenson in Gladstone and a second change granted from Estenson's court to that of A. T. Sohlberg when Estenson became ill.

Flint Girl Hurt In Car Accident

Miss Gloria Mavee, 21, Flint, suffered a fractured collar bone and minor bruises when the car she was driving skidded and rolled over near Nahma Junction at 4 this morning.

The other two passengers in the auto, Miss Mavee's mother and sister, also of Flint, were uninjured. Miss Mavee was brought to St. Francis hospital and is being treated there.

They were enroute to Duluth when the accident occurred.

Hospital

Mrs. Harold Gasman, 615 South 10th, was admitted to St. Francis hospital this morning as a medical patient.

U. P. Civil Defense Meet

Wohlen Presides; 35 Attend

MARQUETTE (Special) — In civil defense planning in Michigan, it is necessary to work under the assumption that Russia is keeping pace with the United States in the production of guided missiles and other new weapons of war, it was stressed at a meeting of Upper Peninsula civil defense officials here yesterday afternoon.

The meeting was called by the Michigan Office of Civil Defense to coordinate planning in the U. P. and the state, to give U. P. workers a chance to meet state CD officials and to hear of the difficulties encountered in Washington and Lansing in getting an effective civil defense program underway. Paul A. Wohlen, of Escanaba, U. P. director, presided.

Soo Exercise
John Murray, Lansing, state public affairs director, explained what his office was attempting to do to publicize civil defense and pointed out that the Federal CD office has failed to deliver many of the items needed to put the program over.

He explained that civil defense work is governed by the Civil Defense Act of 1943, amended in 1950, which will cease to exist when peace treaties with Japan and Germany are concluded. The Sault Ste. Marie "enemy attack" exercise was lauded by Murray as an "outstanding contribution to civil defense."

Most of the counties in the Upper Peninsula were represented at the meeting here. Workers were urged to recruit as much trained help as possible, those who had experience during World War II, and to promote civil defense on the local level.

Escanaba Delegation
Other state CD officials who explained briefly their respective work were Everett O. Troup, chief of the communications division; Frank Carey, training officer; Homer D. Higbie, public affairs; John E. Cataldo, Ground Observer Corps, and E. H. "Bud" Gibbs, of Perkins, Upper Peninsula mobile support commander.

Among 35 attending the meeting were Glenn S. Leonard, Robert L. Clayton, William E. Eison and James G. Ward, Jr., of Escanaba; Walter J. Dieterichs, Munising, Alger county CD director; Allan W. Ronberg, Norway director, and Carl Isacson, Iron Mountain director.

Has Party For 100, Only 10 Show Up

PASADENA, Calif. — (AP) — Wilbur Jensen, 76, who is deaf and dumb, thought he was going to take a $100 loss on some chicken and apple pies he bought for a party. He'd planned a party for at least 100 deaf and dumb persons, hoping to organize a club. But only 10 showed up.

A group of teen-age models who had volunteered to stage a fashion show for the affair saved him half the loss. They sold $50 worth of leftover pies door to door the next day. Jensen and his neighbors went on a pie diet to consume the rest.

Ground Observers Hear Capt. Soik On Civil Defense

About thirty members of the Delta county Ground Observer Corps attended a meeting held recently at Rapid River High school. Present were Capt. George F. Soik, USAF Training Officer, and PFC Richard Quinn of the Green Bay Filter Center; Lester C. Kinny, Delta county liaison officer and observation post supervisors John H. Zimmerman, Nahma; Gust Klien, Jr., Perkins; Jack Miller, Rapid River; John Eskola, Stonington; Fred Marenger, Flat Rock; Dorion DesRochers, Garder; and Edward J. Olsen, Ensign.

Capt. Soik gave an informative talk on the organization, operation and importance of the Corps in this area. He also stressed the fact that in the event of attack the first few days could be very disastrous and the only way to assure against such a possibility is by having every observation post fully manned and ready for alert with a minimum of delay.

PFC Richard Quinn explained the weaknesses of the radar system which make it necessary that a trained observer corps must be prepared to augment it. Many of the posts in this county are inadequately manned at present and must be brought up to full strength within a short time. All persons willing to devote time to civil defense are urged to contact the supervisor of the post located near them or phone Lester C. Kenny at 2181.

Urges Drafting Blood Donors

Supply Reported Dangerously Low

NEW YORK—The defense department has taken over from the Red Cross the public relations job of collecting enough human blood to keep a sizable reserve of plasma in its banks, against both military setback in Korea and disaster here at home. The present supply is dangerously low—the prospects for increasing it have not heavily improved.

In the past week much high armor, including Ex-Defense Secretary George Marshall, has pleaded for blood donors. It seems to me the thing is almost past appeal, and should be regimented somewhat, along with nearly everything else we deal in today.

Shed Blood At Home
I submit for criticism the idea that if a man can be called on to shed his blood far afield, with sometimes fatal effect, there is no real reason he can't be forced to shed it at home for the general safety of his own land, at no ill to himself.

Simply and without frills we are already set up to process young men and old reserves to go to war. We have exempted or deferred a vast percentage of those called for conscription. A vast percentage of that vast percentage are men with negligible ills—flat feet, mild hernia, punctured eardrums, all sorts of minor ailments that would make the man a liability to his government if he were actually sent to be a soldier.

Subject To Draft
Now it seems to me that the lucky ones who are not called to war could be arrayed as a standby army of blood givers, subject to draft in moment of urgent need. If a bomb hits us or a national catastrophe strikes, or we have a tremendous setback in Korea, what would be more logical than to call a flock of predetermined donors for emergency blood contribution?

Or, for that matter to call on the huge reservoir of the deferred to report at stated intervals to yield up a pint of the old necessary, in order to build up the reservoirs of whole blood and plasma to a peak of safety? During the war they literally used blackmail blood from servicemen and civilian alike, to the point of accosting people who were entering movies and more or less shaking a syringe at them.

Carried 8000 Passengers
"Without advantages of a certificated scheduled airline operation and with its historic traffic development or the most part dependent on non-instrumental undependable flying conditions, Nationwide has carried more than 8000 passengers annually in and out of the Upper Peninsula.

The brief offers several arguments why Lake Central should be selected to operate the proposed inter-peninsula Michigan route. They include:

"The paramount reason is that Lake Central can establish and operate the new service at a savings to the government of at least $138,000 annually over WCA.

"Lake Central management is keenly aware of the Michigan transportation needs and has the know how, equipment, interest and ability to provide better service and generate more Michigan air traffic than WCA.

"Lake Central's present management pioneered the development of the Michigan intrastate route and has the confidence and good will of the Michigan communities, state government and industries.

"Lake Central can combine the proposed route with its present and proposed routes in Michigan, Indiana and Ohio to provide an additional service over an integrated flexible and economical system of furnishing more convenient schedules in the public interest."

World Affairs Lecture Series Scheduled Here

A course of six lectures entitled "The United States in World Affairs" will be presented in Escanaba by the University of Michigan with the cooperation of Escanaba public schools and the Delta County University of Michigan Alumni club. It will be presented in the Junior high school building on six successive Fridays beginning on October 12 at 7:30 p. m. The six lectures are entitled:

1. Food and People, by Prof. Stanley A. Cain.
2. The Problem of China, by Dr. James I. Crump, jr.
3. The Problem of Japan, by Prof. Robert E. Ward.
4. The Problem of India, by John F. Muehl.
5. The Problem of the Middle East, by Nicholas Marbury Etimenco.
6. The Problem of Western Europe, by Henry Bretton.

The aim of the course is to provide factual information and informed opinion relative to several trouble and danger spots on the international scene and to provide a means for answering questions and for discussing these problems with men who are students of the problem and who have been in the places they discuss.

This lecture course is open to anyone who wishes to enroll. It is a non-credit course and a nominal registration fee will be charged.

Further information concerning this series may be obtained by calling or by writing the University of Michigan Extension Service office, Junior high school building, Escanaba.

Yesterday's continuance of preliminary hearing was the second for Steiner since his arraignment.

Steiner Hearing Is Delayed Again

Preliminary hearing in the case of William Steiner, Fairport, charged with theft of six head of beef cattle, yesterday was continued to Oct. 5 at the request of defense counsel.

Justice A. T. Sohlberg of Gladstone ordered the continuance with the approval of Prosecutor J. Clyde McGonagle.

Atty. Richard Nebel, Munising, counsel for Steiner, told the court that inasmuch as the sheriff was attending a meeting in Marquette the prosecutor was agreeable to the continuance. Prosecutor McGonagle was not present in court at that time.

Sheriff William E. Miron of Escanaba today said he had on Thursday been informed by the prosecutor that the Steiner hearing could not be held because of a scheduled justice court trial in another case. The sheriff said he was advised to attend his Civilian Defense meeting in Marquette and not to summon witnesses for the Steiner hearing.

Steiner was arrested Aug. 14 and is charged with the theft of six cattle owned by St. Bonavent

Many Archers To Hunt Deer

36-Day Season Will Open October 1

As many as 18,000 bow and arrow hunters may stalk deer in the 36-day season which gets underway October 1, the conservation department estimates.

The record set last year, 15,743 licensed big game archers, has an excellent chance of being topped with the fast growing favor of bow and arrow style hunting. Steady increase in archers has been noted since 1945 when only 1,800 purchased licenses.

Liberalization of the 1951 season permits the taking of either sex deer in more counties than before. Male or female deer may be hunted through November every county in the state except Keweenaw, Houghton, Dickinson, Menominee, Emmet, Cheboygan, Otsego, Clare, Chippewa, Drummond island, and parts of Bay and Huron. In listed counties only male deer with three-inch or more antlers continue to be lawful. Either sex whitetails are legal through December 15 in Allegan county.

Any archer who does not get his limit of one deer is eligible to purchase a gun license to hunt in the general firearm season November 15-30.

Resident bow and arrow deer and bear licenses again is $3.50, as is the resident firearm deer and bear license. Non residents will continue to pay $10 for the bow permit and $35 for the firearm license.

First Army-Navy football game was played in 1890 at West Point, N. Y., with Navy defeating Army 24 to 0.

Council Solves Problem Of Duck Shooting On Lake Shore

THE action taken by the Escanaba city council Thursday night as an effective compromise on the duck shooting problem along the lake shore is one that should be acceptable to both duck hunters and property owners.

The council passed on first reading an ordinance to prohibit shooting from Sand Point to Brewery Point, including an area 300 yards offshore. The public hearing will be held Oct. 4 and presumably the council will enact the ordinance on second reading.

The action does not establish a duck sanctuary in the area. Hunters will not be permitted to shoot in the restricted area but they can go in the water and chase the ducks to other areas where hunters can get a crack at them. The hunters were unable to do that before when the wildfowl refuge was established under control of the Department of Conservation.

The department says a sanctuary for ducks is no longer necessary in that area, that it is better to give local hunters a chance to shoot them because the ducks will simply go down the Mississippi flyway and be shot by hunters along the way. The major concern since the department announced its plan to abandon the refuge was the indiscriminate shooting of firearms in a residential area where there are many small children. That worry is effectively disposed of by the solution agreed upon by the council Thursday night.

Council Asks

Stoll To Reconsider

WHETHER C. W. Stoll will reconsider his resignation as a member of the board of supervisors from Escanaba, as the city council requested Thursday night, is uncertain but there are many people in addition to council members who are urging Mr. Stoll to do so.

The council showed its appreciation for the conscientious services of Mr. Stoll by passing up an acceptance of his resignation and asking him to reconsider. The council knows the importance of Stoll's work as chairman of the taxation and finance committee of the county board—important not only to the county as a whole but to the city of Escanaba as well.

Approximately half of the county's total tax receipts come from the people of the city of Escanaba. A vigilant supporter of economy and efficiency, such as Mr. Stoll, serving in the important position of finance chairman, means much to the people of the city, as well as to the taxpayers of the entire county.

We hope Mr. Stoll will decide to remain as a city representative on the county board.

SAULT'S OPPORTUNITY

(Sault Ste. Marie News)

The frank statement of Professor Chester Russell, director of Sault Branch, Michigan College of Mining and Technology, regarding the enrollment for this fall is a direct challenge. Facts are stated that must be convincing to all that there must be a getting together of the entire community in a final effort to make the best possible showing. The legislature must be impressed with the desirability of continuing the institution.

When all the arguments are made for the necessity of more young people striving for more knowledge so that the demands of the future be met, the decision to go to college for at least two years is to be made by the young men or young women. If youth is to develop natural talents and become more intelligent, more responsible and better fitted to carry on the problems of the future, there must be education as far as possible. Certainly two years at Sault Branch of Michigan Tech is a minimum.

We are told that the present enrollment should be increased 100. There are enough students who have been graduated in Chippewa, Luce and Mackinac counties to supply this need.

Dr. Grover C. Dillman, president of the college, has formed a faculty here that meets the high standards of university requirements. Particularly good work has been done at Houghton by those students who have continued their college careers. The same records have been made at the University of Michigan and Michigan State and other institutions ranking among the best in the country.

The opportunity is here but we must show that in this race for the continuation of the college we must run the full 100 yards. We cannot falter at 90. Sault Ste. Marie, its young people and its mothers and fathers can do much the next few days.

Merry-Go-Round

By DREW PEARSON

WASHINGTON—By accident a spokesman for the Army engineers let slip the basic reason for the tragic failure to control floods in the Missouri Valley. He admitted that the Army engineers are opposed to the Missouri Valley authority.

The admission has given Maj. Gen. Lewis A. Pick, chief of Army engineers, catfish. For, as a loyal Army officer, he is not supposed to differ with his commander-in-chief in the White House. The difference is that General Pick and the Army engineers take the side of the big private utilities and want flood-control dams for flood control and navigation only. However, thousands of farmers object to giving up their land for dams and reservoirs unless the dams also for themselves by generating electric power.

This is the Missouri Valley authority plan—similar to TVA—but exactly what the private utilities and the Army engineers do not want.

The Army engineers' position leaked officially during a flood control hearing at which Congressman Clare Magee of Missouri asked Col. B. C. Snow, boss engineer for the Upper Mississippi River Valley: "Isn't it true that your chief of engineers, General Pick, is opposed to the Missouri Valley authority?"

"Then I am opposed to it, too," snapped Snow in reply.

"That's what I thought," muttered Magee. "You boys are... just a bunch of Charley McCarthys, aren't you?"

"No, sir, we are loyal," said Snow, beginning to squirm under the blunt interrogation.

Magee: "You are loyal, yes, and loyalty means that you follow the leader."

Snow: "Yes, sir."

Magee: "What do you think about the Tennessee Valley authority (on which the MVA is patterned)? Don't you think that's been successful in stopping floods and providing power for the people of southern states?"

Snow: "I have read articles in the newspapers indicating that the TVA is successful, and I have no knowledge to the contrary."

Magee: "Yes, but you don't want the Missouri Valley authority, do you?"

Snow: "No, sir."

Magee: "Because General Pick is against it?"

Snow: "Well, I have my own mind, too. My mind agrees with General Pick's thoughts."

The quite confused colonel was finally excused from the witness stand after this parting shot by Magee: "The private power companies not only of Missouri, but throughout the United States, are opposed to the MVA, and I think I can definitely state that the army engineers are under the influence of the private power companies."

CAPEHART CHOKED

Indiana's lion-hearted Sen. Homer Capehart, the music-box king, was cross-examining witnesses who opposed his cost-plus amendment for boosting price ceilings.

All the top authorities from President Truman and Defense Mobilizer Wilson down have described the Capehart amendment as unworkable, but the gentleman from Indiana was mercilessly bullying everyone who dared appear before the Senate banking committee in opposition, including John J. Gunther, a young lobbyist for Americans for Democratic Action. Capehart tore into him with a barrage of personal questions.

"Are you a registered lobbyist? Is your wife a registered lobbyist? Is this statement a statement of yours, or did you clear it with your directors? What experience have you had in business or in cost accounting, or what experience have you had to qualify you to be an expert on this subject? Have you ever worked as a bookkeeper?"

Gunther scarcely started answering one question before Capehart would fire another. Finally, young Gunther interrupted.

"The senator from Indiana surprises me," he said. "I went to my personnel division at ADA, and one of the letters I put in the file when I applied for my job is the following:"

Gunther then read quietly: "This is to introduce Mr. John Gunther, a Hoosier, a resident of South Bend, Indiana. I have known Mr. Gunther for some time. He is of good character, and an outstanding student with a wealth of varied experience. I recommend him as an able, conscientious person."

The letter was signed: "Homer S. Capehart, senator."

Nicknames Of Political Leaders Often Barometer Of Popularity

By HERBERT HOLLANDER

At the National Press Club in Washington the other day a man close to a political hopeful remarked to his luncheon companion:

"My candidate doesn't need issues so much as a good, snappy nickname."

All of which was an oversimplification of a very practical truth that political managers know is potent—that while a laudatory or neutral sobriquet is a positive asset, even a derisive nickname is better than none at all.

For the record shows that Americans like to speak familiarly of their public men, especially those whom they elect, or are asked to elect, to higher office.

It's part of the wholesome democratic atmosphere of this country; and its one of those things, among a lot of others, that so many foreigners, particularly those living under dictatorships, never have been able to understand.

"Big Bill" Taft

Thus, those who are working for the nomination of Senator Robert Alphonso Taft for the Presidential nomination next year are elated when folks call him "Bob." They recall that his father, William Howard Taft, didn't mind a bit when the voters affectionately dubbed him "Big Bill." After all, he did make the White House.

President Truman is pleased that people know him as "Harry." Many in Governor Thomas E. Dewey's entourage three years ago were wishing that more folks would have found reason to warm up to a candidate known as "Tom."

Political experts tell you that the personality of General Dwight D. Eisenhower which makes so many people call him "Ike" and do it with a feeling both of friendship and esteem is an asset which yet may be a decisive factor in his future career. And they affirm with equal realism that millions of Americans speak warmly of General Douglas MacArthur as "Mac," and that the general's dignity is not offended in the slightest.

"Silent Cal" was a cognomen which, so the political pundits assert, was worth at least a couple of million votes just on its own. James Madison's Presidential ambitions were not hurt a bit when he became nationally known as the "Father of the Constitution." Benjamin Franklin's sobriquet of "Poor Richard" became a household word. It was, of course, taken over bodily from his poor Richard's Almanac. But the most historic of all of the traditional titles is that given George Washington: "The Father of His Country."

Several presidents, whose opponents considered them political accidents, had fastened upon them nicknames which gained wide currency. Presidents John Quincy Adams and Millard Fillmore both were dubbed the "Accidental Presidents." Adams because of the nature of the election, Fillmore because he came into the White House on Zachary Taylor's death. But the changed attitude of the people toward Adams in his declining days is shown graphically by a new nickname which attained wide use: "Old Man Eloquent."

"His Accidency"

Both Presidents Chester A. Arthur, who (succeeded upon Garfield's death) and Grover Cleveland were called "His Accidency," although with considerably less logic in the latter case than in the former.

The late Wendell Willkie won the nomination in 1940 on a wave of enthusiasm for his dark horse candidacy which bowled over his convention opponents. Oddly, however, and perhaps significantly, his supporters did not fit him out with a nickname. But a crack by an opponent gained national currency and may have had something to do with his defeat. Any way, being known as "The Barefoot Boy From Wall Street" did not help any.

Speaker Thomas B. Reed, who ruled the U. S. House of Representatives with an iron hand, was universally known as "Czar" Reed. A famous successor, who ran the legislative mill with equal firmness until a revolt brought about a change in the rules, was known the world over as "Uncle Joe" Cannon. Indeed, except on official business his name, Joseph G. Cannon, was rarely heard.

Woodrow Wilson was hardly the type to inspire warmly intimate nicknames. He often was called, "The Professor," and those who used it did not intend it as a compliment. William Jennings Bryan had all sorts of titles, of both favorable and unfavorable connotation. His first was "Boy Orator of the Platte." There were more based upon his gift of gab and also on his repeated tries for the Presidency, his prohibitionism, and his varied other activities. But the one he and his admirers liked best was "The Great Commoner." The rapaciously corrupt William M. Tweed, finally brought to book by journalistic enterprise which exposed his "gang," remains the most notorious politico ever to bear the title of "Boss," and to this day it gives shadowed overtones to the word.

Caused By Headlines

The exigencies of headline writing sometimes contribute to the popularization of a nickname of a person frequently in the news.

Thus, because column rules are inflexible boundaries, the simple initials "T. R." have been widely used to designate Theodore Roosevelt; "F.D.R." the late President, and "H.S.T." the present incumbent.

Thomas Jefferson was dubbed the "Sage of Monticello," but few knew that his contemporaries, at least those who were on his side, also gave him the title of "Pen of the Revolution." However, far more indicative of the popular spirit was the nickname, "Long Tom," used by friend and foe alike.

So They Say

Administration foes have never had much real faith in the strength of our economic system, for they have been warning us year after year that our economy is about to collapse. Meanwhile... our economy has become stronger and more prosperous. Charles F. Brannan, secretary of agriculture.

Many people... find it popular to fight communism now when a few years ago they followed the pink line, the intellectual type of thing.—Earle Cocke, jr., American Legion commander.

Good Evening...

TAKING INVENTORY—Every so often—at least once every few years—it is said that a man should lean back and take stock of himself to determine how much he has learned and how much he has forgotten.

Today we are taking inventory as a columnist who began turning out this daily stint nine years ago. We do not intend to spend over-much time in revisiting the scene of the crime. All we want to do is pick up a few clues encountered along the way.

Writing a daily column is considered by budding journalists as the culmination of a newspaper career.

Columnists are pictured as lolling around in fashionable night clubs making cuff notes on celebrities; hobnobbing with statesmen who eagerly seek his advice on the international situation; and retiring after a decade to his country estate to live off his fabulous income.

GOOD EXPERIENCE—Unfortunately we must report that we gave up visiting hot spots about the time the Charleston was fading in popularity.

And all of the statesmen we have encountered looked suspiciously like politicians more interested in reelection than the North Atlantic Pact. As for retiring, that will come when the Old Age Assistance checks arrive to pay our freight at the convalescent home.

Writing a column has been good experience, nonetheless. It helps considerably in creating an aura of wisdom around the office.

The columnist can lean back and put his feet up on the desk and close his eyes and folks who come in will be mightily impressed. There is a man who is doing some deep thinking, they say. Don't disturb him or he might lose his train of thought—and if he misses a mental streamliner another one may not come along for several weeks.

OCCUPATIONAL HAZARD—Some of your friends find pleasure in introducing you to total strangers as the guy who writes a column.

They make out that you are as wise as Sophocles and witty as Mark Twain. The strangers stand around waiting for you to say something to uphold your reputation. Finally in a desperate flash of conversational brilliance you say: "Well—it sure looks like it might rain," and watch hopeful expressions fade to disappointment.

In the majority, however, people are kind and helpful. They give you interesting items about interesting people and—when the necessity arises—will come to the assistance of fellowmen in distress.

TURNING OPTIMIST—We have changed from pessimist to optimist, the result of heartening experiences with kindly people.

A widow from the county whose purse was stolen in Escanaba received gifts from readers far greater than her loss when her story was told in the column; a boy at Nahma, ill in bed, was the recipient of many gifts when his mother appealed for books—these and other incidents through the years prove man's humanity to man.

You can't be a cynic after meeting so many nice people.

And if a columnist sometimes feels he is in a position to preach a resounding sermon and starts pontificating and crusading—it is only because he temporarily forgets that most people are fundamentally good and do not need advice from a two-bit philosopher.

So we end the nine years on a note of humble optimism. In that period folks have proved that generally they were more kind and generous to us than we were to them.

Take My Word For It... Frank Colby Jr.

THE INDIAN SIGN IN AMERICA

When an American faces a word-shortage, instead of waving his arms he either makes up new words, or borrows words from other languages.

While Shakespeare was writing his plays and eking out a meager living, Americans had already made a notable start in fashioning a new and rich language of their own by borrowing liberally the words they needed from the inhabitants of the majestic new land—notably, from the Indians.

Such words as these were taken to be new "English" words, despite the fact that they were not English in any sense, but strictly American.

Caribou (KAIR-uh-boo), from the Algonquin; the North American reindeer. Catulpa (kub-TAL-puh), from the Creek kutupha; a tree with large cordate leaves, and bell-shaped white flowers.

Pecan (puh-KAHN), from the Algonquian; "any hard-shelled nut." The American spelling originally was paccan, which probably accounts for the pronunciation pi-KAN, which is heard in the East, and occasionally elsewhere. The Spanish influence, especially in the South and Southwest, where the tree flourishes, perhaps explains the more generally heard: puh-KAHN.

Punk (punk), from the Algonquian, literally means "fine ashes," but American slang has given it the meaning of bad, miserable; a young tramp; and in movie jargon, "an inexperienced assistant to a cameraman."

Chinquapin (CHINK-uh-pin), originally spelled cheququin, is from the Algonquian, and designates a dwarf species of chestnut.

Squash (skwosh), is an abbreviation of the Narragansett askutasquash, meaning "vegetable eaten green." Other variations in the original spelling were isquonter-squash and squantersquash.

Tuxedo (tuck-SEE-doe), a semiformal tailless coat for men, was named for the fashionable resort, Tuxedo Park, New York. Tuxedo is from the Lenape word p'tukst, meaning "wolf" (no pun on the young man wearing the outfit!).

Famous last line that usually follows the return from vacation: "How did we ever spend that much?"

Finding Time

By Gordon Martin

I suppose there are a lot of us who have some tasks to do, but can never seem to find the time before the day is through. For I know that I can budget every minute of the day, to provide the proper balance for my work and for my play, yet in putting off unpleasant chores, I'm guilty of a crime, for, to do the things I want to do, I always find the time.

I suppose it's human nature that I leave the worst till last, and it's then I like to tell myself the clock is running fast. I can kid myself by saying that another day is spent, and I've been so very busy that I don't know where it went. But the things I did accomplish were the things that I enjoyed, and I've piled up still more boring jobs I wish I could avoid.

I suppose that other folks, like me, will take a solemn oath—if our tasks be fun or drudgery, by gosh, we'll do 'em both. But I find sometimes I quite forget my resolutions good, and I do the things I like to do and not some things I should. And there comes a day of reckoning when every little chore, is a pesky job I once postponed and should have done before.

AFTER SIGNING CONTRACT — Charles E. Good, president of the Bay de Noquet Lumber company, happily shook hands with Warren P. Miller, president of American Playground Device company, after the signing of the contract for the sale of Nahma to the Anderson, Ind., company. Good had been working day and

Nahma Folks Told Work Will Start In Few Days

There was a gay time in Nahma last night after Charles E. Good, highly esteemed president of the Bay de Noquet Lumber company, announced details of the sale of the entire town to the American Playground Device company of Anderson, Ind.

Men, women and children, assembled in the new Nahma community building, applauded Good when he concluded his talk with the following statement:

"It's nice to know our mission has been carried out. I know when these new people take over Nahma you will be glad to know them and will be glad to work with them."

After the meeting, the townspeople were treated with refreshments served in the clubhouse with the compliments of the new owners of the sawmill town, which was saved from becoming a ghost town through the nationwide promotion campaign directed by President Good.

Plan Nahma Face-Lifting

Pre-occupation with business matters in Anderson prevented Warren P. Miller, president of American Playground Device, and other officers of the company from attending last night's meeting.

In a long distance telephone conversation with the Press this morning, President Miller said a group of company officials would arrive in Nahma Tuesday or Wednesday to launch Nahma's "face-lifting" program.

"We will hire a staff of about fifty men to start our fix-up program," he said. "The boarding house and mess hall will be torn down. We are not certain yet just what use we will make of the area near the community building. We have been thinking of establishing a model playground there to display our recreational equipment. We have also thought about building a modern motel in that area some day."

Newspaper Men Coming

Several newspaper men from Indianapolis and Anderson, Ind., are planning to accompany Miller to Nahma next week to get stories and pictures of the town.

Marion Luce of Chicago, public relations counsel, who organized the press conference last spring, which launched Good's campaign to sell the whole town, is arranging another meeting for writers and photographers to be held soon.

Good told the townspeople last night that Nahma publicity appeared in newspapers throughout the United States and even in Europe and Hawaii. One offer to purchase the town came from Amsterdam, Holland.

Manufactures Big Line

Miller plans to interest one or two other industries to locate in Nahma to give the community a well-balanced economy. He told the Press today that shortly after the story of the Nahma sale appeared in the newspapers Friday he received a telephone call from a manufacturer who was interested in locating at Nahma.

American Playground Device will operate plants at both Anderson and Nahma. The company manufactures playground swings, jungle-gyms, teeter-totters, merry-go-rounds, beach and pool slides and diving boards, pool cleaning equipment, flagpoles, bicycle racks and other equipment. It plans to introduce some new products after locating at Nahma, Miller said.

Nightly Blackouts Come In Singapore

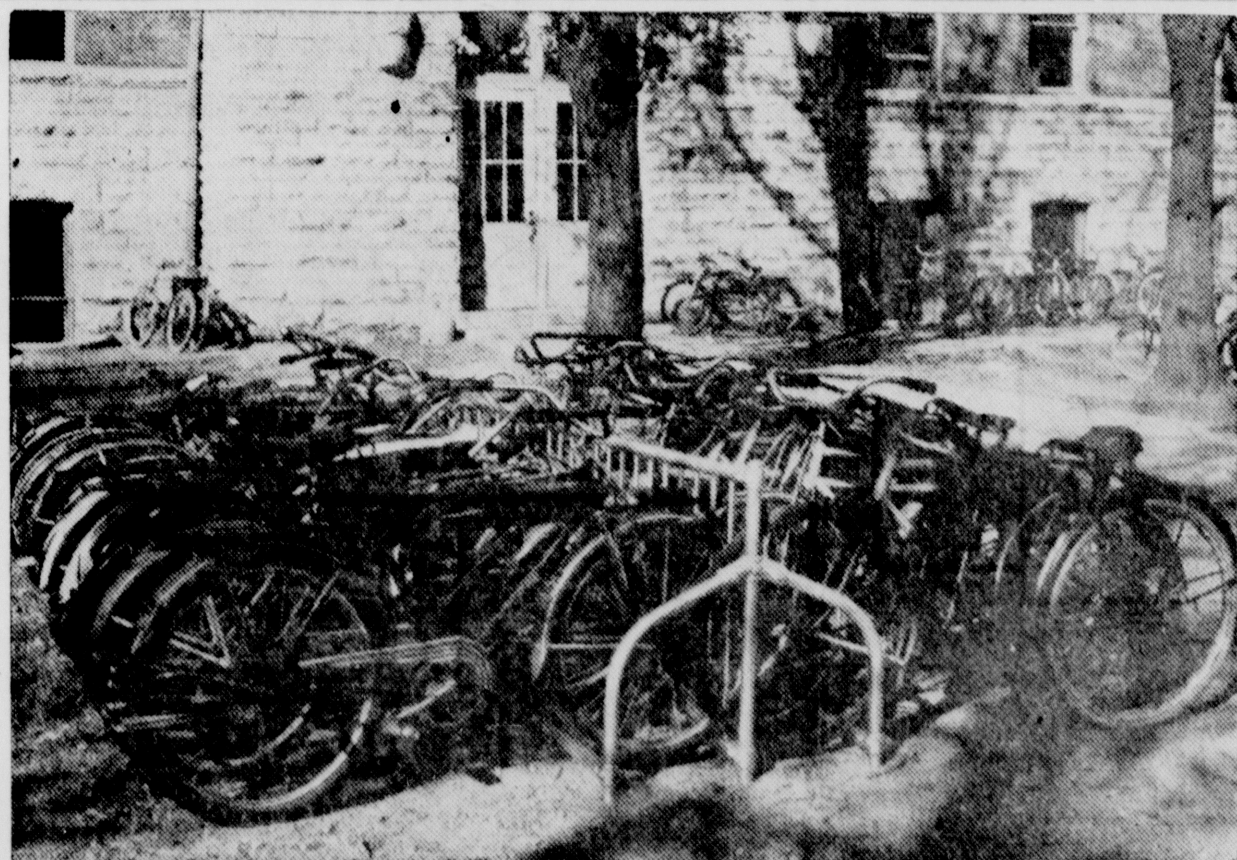

SINGAPORE—(AP)—Just about every night in Singapore, there are electric power blackouts—but nobody gets any advance warning.

The municipal electrical engineer announced he couldn't tell people what areas were going to be affected "for security reasons."

In other words, Communist terrorists might step up their activities if they knew in advance what sections of Singapore were going to be without lighting at any specified time.

The Nason

Attractively Modern,
Inside And Out

Rooms Five
Bedrooms Two
Closets Six
Cubage: House 18,500 ft.
Garage 4,500 ft.
Dimensions 37'x26'

An abundance of windows breaks the simple, straight architectural lines of "The Nason"; prevents the design from becoming monotonous to the eye and so greatly enhances the over-all charms of this ranch style home. Colorful asphalt roofing also will dress-up the exterior of this house; give it extra "eye-appeal."

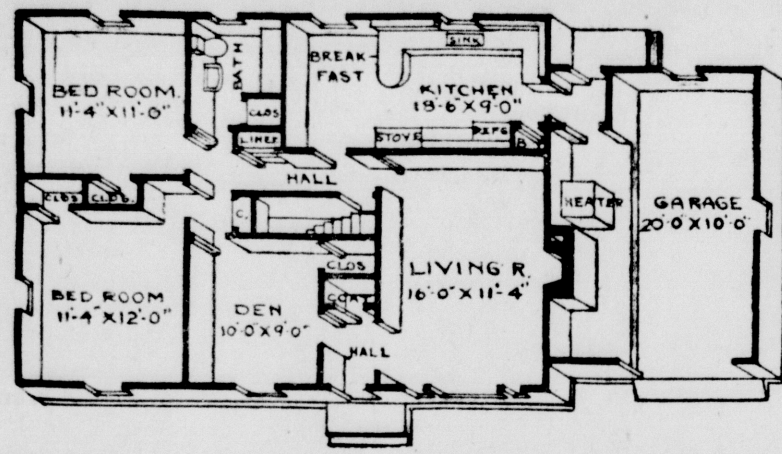

Measuring 37' x 26' in dimensions, the house proper could easily be constructed on a 60-foot lot. If you want to include the attached garage, as suggested in the accompanying plan, you would of course need a larger lot.

With a full cement basement cubage of the house proper is 18,500 feet; of the garage, 4,500 feet. The simpler the landscaping the more attractive the results with any small, simply styled home such as "The Nason." This house does not need to be set back any great distance from the street to show off its charms advantageously.

The attractive front door opens on a good sized entry hall. Open archways lead from this hall to the den at the left and the living room at the right. There is a large coat closet conveniently placed at the end of the entry hall.

Located in the front wall of the living room is a handsome large picture window which, from both a practical and from a decorative viewpoint, is a real asset to this room. So also is the fireplace centered in the right wall.

There is an abundance of windowed wall area along the back, left and right living room walls to make attractive furniture arrangement an easy task. Since there is no dining room in "The Nason" this 16' x 11'4" room will have to double as the dining area for any occasions when you don't want to use the breakfast eating area. To simplify setting the table, serving the meal and clearing away afterwards, place the dining room set near the back living room wall where it can be most easily reached from the kitchen.

Breakfast Area

A connecting hallway leads from the living room to the breakfast area and kitchen and also to the remaining rooms in this house. Well lighted by one window, the breakfast area is pleasant and roomy; it is designed to serve as the eating room for luncheons, between-meal snacks or for any other times when the lady of the house doesn't care to use the more formal dining set.

In the kitchen proper, which is planned strictly as a working area, cupboards, cabinets and counters line the back and right walls in an L-shaped array. The sink is placed under the window in the back wall of this 18'6" x 9' kitchen.

Against the front wall of the kitchen is, first, the stove; then an extra section of working counter followed by the refrigerator. The broom closet is conveniently placed in the right front corner of the kitchen.

From the kitchen there is a doorway opening on a small hallway leading both to the back stoop and also to the garage and utility room. Actually a part of the garage, the utility room is designed to hold the heating plant of the house, if you do not have a basement. It could, also, of course, double as a laundry—it is conveniently near to the back entrance if you choose to use it for this purpose.

Well lighted and ventilated by one window in the right wall and another in the back wall, the garage measures 20' x 10'. There's ample room for overhead and regular storage space in this garage.

If you prefer to have a full cement basement under "The Nason," stairs to that basement will lead down from the central hallway, just about in the middle of the house. The large closet provides welcome extra storage space.

There's another extra closet in the all modern bathroom. This room can hold both a tub and a shower, if you so desire, and is sufficiently lighted and ventilated by one good-sized window in the back wall. A large linen closet opens on the connecting hallway just before the door to the bathroom.

Cross ventilation and good light are assured the back bedroom which has a window in the back wall and another in the left wall.

This 11'4' x 11' room has a good sized closet in the front wall.

There is also a large closet in the master bedroom which measures 11'4' x 12'. This room is assured of good light and cross ventilation from one window in the front wall and another in the left wall.

Measuring 10' x 9' the den also has good ventilation and plenty of storage area; thus it is suited to serve as a regular or guest bedroom as well as a den. If you prefer to use it as a combination den and library-study you could have bookshelves built along the unbroken left wall.

Patricia Auskis Is Bride Of Joseph Bieringer

Joseph Matthew Bieringer of Milwaukee claimed as his bride Patricia Helen Auskis, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John Auskis of 944 Stephenson avenue, in a ceremony performed at 9 this morning at St. Thomas the Apostle church. Father Arnold Thompson solemnized the double ring ceremony.

Pastel gladioli and white baby mums flanked the altar for the service. The music of the wedding mass was sung by St. Thomas choir.

The bride who was given in marriage by her father, wore traditional white satin with Chantilly lace trim, the gown styled with a snug bodice and a court train. Her fingertip veil of illusion was caught to a crown of illusion and satin matching the gown. She carried a bridal bouquet of white pompons and pink camillas with cascading satin streamers.

Miss Marilyn Auskis, in the role of maid of honor for her sister, wore a gown of pastel lilac satin with a jacket of lace and a matching headpiece of net ruching. Her flowers were a cascade of yellow roses and orchid and white pompons. Miss Josephine Bieringer, sister of the bridegroom who was bridesmaid, wore an identical gown of ice blue satin and a matching headpiece and she carried a cascade of pink roses and white pompons.

Niece, Flower Girl

Little Rox Anne Ross, a niece of the bridegroom, was the flower girl. Her floor length frock was white satin and she wore a matching headpiece of net ruching. She carried a miniature colonial bouquet of baby mums with a pink rose center and pink satin streamers. William Reidel, a nephew of the bridegroom, who carried the rings on a white satin pillow, wore a white suit.

Larry Felder was best man for Mr. Bieringer who is a son of Mr. and Mrs. John Bieringer of 611 North 54th street, Milwaukee. Usher was William Kurth.

Mrs. Auskis attended her daughter's wedding in a wine gown with a beaded yoke. Her accessories were white and her flowers a corsage of pink roses and white baby mums. Mrs. Bieringer wore a navy ensemble with a like corsage.

The wedding breakfast with covers for 30 guests was served at the Log Cabin and a reception is being held this afternoon at the bride's family home. The tiered wedding cake and flowers, gladioli and pink pompons form the decorations at the home. Presiding at the silver services are Mrs. Wesley Casey and Mrs. Robert Newhouse, aunts of the bride.

Honeymoon in Wisconsin

The newlyweds are going to northern Wisconsin for their honeymoon. Milwaukee will be their home. For going-away the bride selected a wine suit with which she will wear brown accessories and a corsage. The new Mrs. Bieringer is a graduate of Escanaba high school and her husband of the Boys' Technical high school, Milwaukee.

Wedding guests included Mr. and Mrs. John Bieringer, Mr. and Mrs. Charles Novohorsky, Mr. and Mrs. George Riedel and son, William, Mrs. Ann Ross and children, Rox Anne and Richard, Miss Josephine Bieringer, William Kurth and Larry Felder, all of Milwaukee.

The bride's grandmother, Mrs. Frank Newhouse, gave the rehearsal dinner Friday evening at her home, 1708 First avenue south. Assisting her were the two aunts, Mrs. Casey and Mrs. Robert Newhouse.

BRIDE IN OCTOBER—Mr. and Mrs. William J. Daniels of 516 South 11th street announce the approaching marriage of their daughter, Billie Ann, to Donald E. Gross, son of Mr. and Mrs. William Gross of Merrill, Wisconsin. The wedding will take place in Escanaba October 6. Miss Daniels attended Northern Michigan College of Education, Marquette, and is a member of Cegmer Seg, social sorority. Her fiancé, a graduate of Northern, is a member of Sigma Pi.

Lorraine Erickson, Clarence Shiner Exchange Vows

Pink and white gladioli on the mantel and at either side of the fireplace in the rectory study of St. Patrick's church was the setting for the wedding this morning of Lorraine Shirley Erickson daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Herman Erickson of 324 North 12th street, and Clarence R. Shiner, Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Shiner, 428 South 9th street, are the bridegroom's parents.

The 11 o'clock service was read by Father Casimir Mark.

Matron of honor was Mrs. Kenneth Olsen, a sister of the bride. Jack Shiner was best man for his brother.

The bride wore a gown of white imported Chantilly lace with long sleeves extending to a point over the wrist. The sheer neckline was applied with satin and seed pearls. The skirt was extremely full with a slight train. Her Juliet cap of satin and lace trimmed with a border of seed pearls secured her fingertip veil of fine imported French illusion. A two strand pearl necklace, the bridegroom's gift, was her only jewelry. She carried a colonial bouquet of white baby mums and red roses with cascading satin shower ribbons.

Matron In Blue

Mrs. Olsen's gown of blue Chantilly lace and net was styled with a fitted bodice, tiny cap sleeves and a full skirt. She wore a matching tiara of blue Chantilly lace decorated with tiny rhinestones and she carried a colonial bouquet of white baby mums and pink asters.

Mrs. Erickson watched her daughter's wedding in a suit of smoke grey faille with which she wore light gray accessories and a corsage of yellow and bronze baby mums and asters. Mrs. Shiner wore a two piece dress of forest green crepe with black accessories and a like corsage.

The wedding dinner for immediate members of the families was served at the Log Cabin at 12:30. The reception for 200 guests is being held from 2 to 5 this afternoon at the Eagles' club. A four-tiered wedding cake trimmed in blue and topped with a miniature bridal couple centers the appointment for the reception. Flowers of red and white and white wedding bells are being used in the attractive decorations in the hall. The bride's cousins, Mrs. Ray LeFleur and Mrs. Mein-Racivot are presiding at the silver coffee services.

Home In Escanaba

The newlyweds will live in Escanaba when they return from a honeymoon in Milwaukee and Chicago. For traveling the bride has selected a navy suit with gold accessories and a corsage of yellow roses.

The bride, a graduate of St. Joseph high school, is employed in the children's division of the State Department of Social Welfare. Mr. Shiner, an Escanaba high school graduate, is associated with the Shiner Refrigeration Service of Escanaba.

Out-of-town guests at the wedding were Mr. and Mrs. Bert Dumas of Dena, Wis., Mr. and Mrs. Eli Taylor, Mr. and Mrs. Ed Taylor, Mr. and Mrs. Maurice Gauthier, Mr. and Mrs. Melvin Racicot and Emmanuel Taylor of Schaffer, Mr. and Mrs. Nels Ebbesen and family of Bark River, Mr. and Mrs. Robert Shiner of Trenary, Mr. and Mrs. Jack Shiner and family of Gladstone.

LUDINGTON BUY-LINES by Sue Donimus

BEING a smart hostess is fun, and what is more stimulating to entertain than a new idea? You'll find some new hostess ideas in the paper napkins I found yesterday—you've guest it—at Edna's Gift Shop! There are some really handsome new patterns in both beverage and luncheon napkins. For bridge or canasta prizes these napkins are also found in double sets enclosed in a clever cellophane duffle bag which has many handy uses after it's emptied. It's easy to be entertaining with help from Edna's! You want to treat yourself right, too, with some of the gay Swedish paper for shelves, or a wider size for murals. Paper, lady?

THEY trimmed her! They foxed her! But she thanked them it—cause that fur trimmed coat is the love of her life. She bought it from that new shipment that just arrived at Ward's! Prices from as low as $45 to $68—(who's trimming who?)! You'll adore the new colors—luscious shades of green, purple, gray and rust. Some velvet trims, too and scrumptious novelty fleeces. Ward's also have a huge selection of gabardine and sharkskin zip out lining coats from $35 to $45. End of coat.

THE way to avoid trouble is to write no man and write no woman! But woman to woman, gals, I just hafta write to tell you how to get out of all sorts of household trouble. Don't let little repair jobs pile up til they drive you mad; just trot them down to Ted's Fix-It Shop—yes, he'll pick up repair items, too. Ted does such a wonderful job of fixing broken furniture or repairing electrical equipment.

MOM'S the Queen of Hearts! She reigns supreme in the hearts of the family when she sees that her subjects are well bread! Just a few little trips to Thompson's Bakery during the week—that's what puts Mom on the throne with such security! Thompson's homemade breads are fit for royalty. Every day they have rye, wheat, whole wheat, Swedish limpa, French bread, and hard rolls. Listen, queenie, for a firmer rule at home make it a rule to buy quality bread from Thompson's!

MEANING "salvia", a woman wrote the garden editor that she had planted "salvia" in the house and it didn't grow. He suggested "scitoniass". I think anything will grow when planted in the lovely planters found at the Nelson Floral Co. You want to be sure to see their Swedish wheelbarrows, also the California pottery with brass trim. Nelson's shop is really blossoming these days with gay cysanthymums and cut flowers in all the gorgeous fall colors. You'll find their prices stem from a consideration of your purse, too! Stop in at this friendly floral company for your hostess bouquets, or whenever you want to say something with flowers!

I wish he didn't have to go! And believe me, that's no private opinion! But you have to face it, and the G.I. will face it better when there's a face he loves inside a frame to take along with him. Riding's Studio is ready to make up the photographs you'll need to ease the separation. The service men, too, will want to leave quality pictures for their family and that best girl. Make an appointment soon with this fine studio. In the service? Riding's is at your service!

MISS GLAMOUR found men-folks a bore. But to ditch them was really a chore. She installed a Doorhood. As everyone should. Now she'll have no more drips at her door!

Rain free, snow free—that's your front entrance when you install the marvelous Hastings Alumi-Shield Doorhood over your door. An inviting welcome to the right people! Keeps you dry as you search for the front door key! Cleverly engineered aluminum for permanent installation—it can't rust or rip. Choice of seven color combinations by calling Erickson Millwork!

I WASN'T piliated when I went into the Photo Art Shop—at least I didn't think I was—but one look at the tiny Pixies perched on those shelves, and I was a goner! These little pottery sprites are dressed in forest green, chatriuse, maroon or bright red. You'll find them astride small horseshoes, sham-ricks, or kneeling on a little shoe planter or vase. Dwarfed prices, too. They start from as low as 75¢! Photo Art! Take your pix!

HE says he remembers when a girl's name, and a date was something on a calendar! His trouble is he can't remember which date is which. He needs one of the smart desk accessories from the Office Service Co. A handy three way pad opens flat to reveal a weekly organizer with the week's dates at a glance, an alphabetized phone list, and a memo scratch pad. All enclosed in a smart leatherette case for just $2.25. Other handsome leatherette covers encase guest books; large, triple perforated scratch pads; and stationery cases with writing pad and envelopes inside. Make a date with OSCO!

Death Claims Old Resident

Rites Monday At 9 For Mrs. Mastaghe

Mrs. John Mastaghe, 74, a resident of Gladstone for the past 45 years, passed away at the family home at 20 Montana avenue yesterday afternoon following a three-months illness.

Mrs. Mastaghe, nee Flavia Priem, was born August 9, 1877 in Russleede, Belgium. She was married in her homeland to John Mastaghe and in 1906 the couple came to the United States and directly to Gladstone where they have resided since.

The deceased was a member of All Saint's Catholic church.

Surviving are the husband, one son Maurice and one daughter, Mrs. Armand Ducheny, Gladstone. A daughter, Mrs. Eugene Brassick and a son Arthur, Gladstone, preceded her in death. There are also two brothers, Emery Priem, Detroit, Octave Priem, Belgium, and a sister, Mrs. John DeBare, in Belgium, as well as five grandchildren and one great grandchild.

The body was removed to the Skradski Funeral home where friends may call beginning Sunday morning. The rosary will be recited Sunday night at 8 at the funeral home.

Funeral services are to be conducted following a requiem at 9 Monday morning in All Saints church, the Rev. Fr. Matt La Violette officiating. Burial will be in the family lot in Fernwood cemetery.

FLYERS FIND GOLD

CENTRALIA, Ill.—(AP)—Three flying-fans, just out for a Sunday air ride, got lost and finally looked for a place to land before running out of gas. Pilot Bill Storey said he didn't know at first where they were even after being surrounded by angry soldiers with rifles and shiny bayonets. After a severe tongue lashing, they were permitted to buy gas and fly away. Looking for Carmi, Ill., they had landed at Fort Knox where most of the world's gold is guarded.

Kegel Explains Train Collision

Takes Exception To Newspaper Story

John P. Kegel, Gladstone, brakeman on No. 15, takes exception to portion of the news story on Soo line train collision which states he was aboard the caboose when he saw the train racing toward him and jumped to save himself.

He made the following statement concerning the accident:

"After we stopped there, I went back flagging about a mile to the rear of the train, put down two torpedoes and left a fusee and returned to the rear end when I was called in.

"After returning to the caboose I gave the 'highball' to the head-end to proceed and as I was doing so heard No. 45 approaching some distance in the rear, so I went flagging a second time, but only got part way when 45 showed up and going at such speed that it was impossible to stop before colliding with the rear end of 15."

The line was cleared, track damage repaired and the locomotive got back on the rails about 2:30 Friday afternoon. Two freights, No. 16 and a way freight went out of here during the afternoon and Passenger Train No. 7 was in on schedule last evening.

The locomotive which piled into No. 15 came in a short time ahead of the passenger.

Rich Singapore Takes Official City Status In Flashy Ceremony

SINGAPORE—(AP)—Britain's dollar-encrusted Singapore, set in the South China Sea, gained official city status today amid the pomp of empire and the clashing color of its mingled races.

Before today, this rubber and tin rich city of more than 1,000,000 had been classed as a "town."

A crowd of 50,000 watched as the city received a royal charter on the historic Padang parade grounds. The ceremony on the municipal building steps took place on the same spot where the Japanese surrendered to the British in 1945.

The Chinese alone spent half a million straits dollars in a splurge of color and gaiety. They had prepared a four-mile long lantern procession.

A 400-foot dragon studded with 7,000 lights was built to roam the sea within sight of the thousands of merry-makers. Government buildings had orders to throw floodlights on the city.

Sir Stanford Raffles founded modern Singapore after the East India company was ceded the area in 1819. Singapore now is the major shipping and financial center of southeast Asia.

Michigan Receives Maximum U. S. Grant For Sports Fishing

WASHINGTON—(AP)—Michigan is one of the three states to receive the maximum grant of $128,745 for the improvement of sports fishing, the Fish and Wildlife Service said Thursday.

The grants—from a $2,929,250 fund—come from the ten per cent excise tax imposed a year ago on fishing rods, reels, creels, artificial lures, baits and flies.

Each state's grant depends on the number of fishing license holders and its area. States besides Michigan getting the maximum grant are California and Minnesota.

Books Given To Library

Memorial Volumes Are Received

Memorial books honoring Miss Margaret Shilson have recently been given to the Manistique public library, it is announced by Dorothy Shipman, librarian.

Miss Shilson, who was killed in an auto accident at Grand Rapids on July 13, was closely associated with Manistique for nearly 50 years, and her family home was here. Prior to her death friends here expected that she would return to this community to live following her retirement as county health unit nurse in Cheboygan county.

One of the memorial books presented, The School and Its Community, by John Bertram Whitelaw is a study of how to insure a school program responsive to community needs, one that will make cooperation between the school and community a significant force in democratic life, the school librarian said.

The book, she pointed out, emphasizes six points: 1, publicity to make sure that members of the community know what the school is doing; 2, a strong school-home organization; 3, use of the school as a community center; 4, use of local resources, human and material, to enrich the school curriculum; 5, a conscious effort to combat intolerance regarding race, religion, nationality and economic status; 6, a periodic evaluation of the extent to which the school is meeting the needs of the children of the community.

Another book, How to Retire And Enjoy It by Ray Giles, is a very readable treatise on things men and women can do right now in preparation for the day they retire. It deals with such questions as financing your retirement, ways to cut living costs and save money, how to develop hobbies, interests and hidden skills. It gives advice and tips about preserving health and suggests ways to give you something to live for spiritually.

In This Corner

With Roy Crandall

When we pointed out the other day that the Escanaba Eskymos under former coach George Rutwich had put together a string of 25 gridiron victories we were just mentioning it as a fact . . . It may or may not be a record for so-called "modern" teams . . . Since then a number of people have told us of other schools that own impressive winning streaks . . . We understand that Escanaba St. Joe ran up something like 18 straight in the early 1930s . . . The Soo Blue Devils worked the count to 17 about 10 years ago . . . The Menominee Maroons have added up two or three strings of 15 to 17.

The injury bugaboo has struck a number of Upper Peninsula football teams this week . . . Pete Kutches of St. Joe is joined on the sidelines by Johnny Moerchen, regular left end at Menominee, and Dick Bero, Maroon right end . . . Moerchen has a shoulder injury, Bero crashed into the goal post in practice and suffered a gash on his forehead that required five stitches to close . . . Billy Wells, junior defensive guard at Powers, suffered a fracture of the right leg last weekend . . . Brian Rosenblum, speedy Iron Mountain halfback, has been lost to the squad with an injured back . . . That loss was figured to hurt the Mountaineers considerably in their game with Stambaugh this afternoon.

Joe Blazik, Don Merringer and Jerome Debakker of Escanaba and Jack Marble of Gladstone were among the winners at this week's stock car races at the Norway fairgrounds . . . Robert Menghini of Norway has been named head basketball and baseball coach at Channing high school where he succeeds Ray Bentz, who moved to a coaching position in Illinois.

Ken Lowe, sports writer for the Marquette Mining Journal, reports that Newberry Coach Morley Fraser sought football games with Ironwood, Stambaugh, Menominee, Iron River and Escanaba, but all had previous commitments or were restricted by school policy from playing additional games.

Still Seek Fullback On Wolverine Squad, Racine Boy Favored

Ann ARBOR, Mich. — (AP) — Coach Bennie Oosterbaan's "last chance" scrimmage today was expected to settle the big problem of who will fullback Michigan's 1951 football team.

Picking a fullback has been the most persistent problem in the Michigan camp this year.

Now, with the opener against Michigan State only six practice days away, Oosterbaan has to decide among his top quartet of candidates.

As usual, the Michigan coach has closed the scrimmage in 97-239-seat Michigan stadium to let newsmen, to heighten concentration on the problem.

Peterson Favorite

Top candidate at the moment is Don Peterson, a senior from Racine, Wis., who boasts an experience edge over the other three.

But Laurie Le Claire, whose practice work has been consistently good, and Tom Witherspoon, who ripped off four touchdowns and threw another in his first effort at the spot a week ago, are very serious contenders.

Russ Rescorla, the 190-pound Grand Haven prospect who will kick conversions for Michigan this year, is also in the running and may influence the coach's choice by a top performance.

Witherspoon probably is Peterson's closest competition. He

Yankees Stretch Lead To 1½ Game Margin

BY JOHN CHANDLER
(Associated Press Sports Writer)

The New York Yankees, gunning for their third straight American league pennant, sported a one and one-half game lead today over the Cleveland Indians—their largest margin since Aug. 1.

With the scheduled rapidly running out, Casey Stengel's Bronx Bombers belted the Red Sox at Boston yesterday 5 to 1, while the Indians were fumbling a game to the Tigers in Detroit, 7 to 6.

The same four clubs hook up in the same locality this afternoon and Sunday, when the final week of the hectic season begins.

Six Is Magic Number

For the Yankees, the "magic number" is six. New York has eight games remaining—seven of them with the Red Sox. If the Yankees can win six, Cleveland could cop all five of its remaining contests, but still would wind up in second place. The Red Sox are five games back hanging on the mathematical edge of elimination.

Meanwhile in the National league, the Brooklyn Dodgers were clubbed by the Philadelphia Phillies at Ebbets field, 9 to 6, as Robins in Roberts hung up his 21st victory of the year. The defeat left the front-running Dodgers four games ahead of the idle New York Giants.

Brooklyn has nine more games to play, the Giants seven. The Bums can clinch the flag with five victories, even if the Giants win all seven.

Tickets On Sale

Apparently the Yankee and Dodger front offices are fully engaged in a 30 cents subway series, for both have put world series tickets on sale.

Returning to the cold, hard facts in the American loop, if anyone is to stop the Yankees it must be Boston. Stengel put it bluntly yesterday after Allie Reynolds pitched New York to its first victory over the Sox in nine games at Fenway park this season.

"That's only one game," Casey said. "We got eight to go."

After Sunday's finale, New York returns home to play one game with Philadelphia Tuesday, and winds up with doubleheaders against Boston Friday and Saturday, and a single game with the Red Sox on Sunday, the final day.

Cleveland goes to Chicago from Detroit for a single game with the White Sox Tuesday, then returns home to play single games with Detroit Saturday and Sunday.

Trojans At Bark River On Sunday

BARK RIVER—Unbeaten Bark River will be host to winless St. Joe in a 2 o'clock gridiron clash here Sunday afternoon.

Coach Paul Winnikainen's Broncos will be shooting for their third straight win of the season. Bark River has victories over Crystal Falls and Rock.

Holme Misses Gopher Drill

CHICAGO — (AP) — Midwest football briefs:

OHIO STATE—Some sensational place-kicking by Vic Janowicz topped a warm up for today's full dress rehearsal . . . All players are in top shape for the intrasquad game except Halfback Walk Klevay, who has a minor foot injury.

IOWA — Reserve Quarterback Dick Gleichman has been lost for the season through scholastic difficulties.

MINNESOTA—Two top fullbacks, Ron Engel of Mason City, Ia., and Mel Holme of Stambaugh, Mich., will miss today's intrasquad game . . . Both are sidelined with minor injuries . . .

WISCONSIN—Drat Teteak, veteran linebacker, will be out for a week with a back injury . . .

INDIANA—Pass defense is being stressed and Coach Clyde Smith is pleased with his squad's condition . . . "The team is beginning to shake down to what we're looking for," he said.

PURDUE—Coach Stu Holcomb will scout the Texas-Kentucky game today at Austin, Tex.

NORTHWESTERN—Coach Bob Voights planned to use most of his squad of 100 players in today's big intersquad game . . . Three varsity men still are on the cripple list—Fullback Rich Athan, Guard Tom McCormick and End Ed Demyan . . .

ILLINOIS—Coach Ray Eliot will send his first three teams against the remainder of a 100-man squad in a varsity-junior contest . . .

NOTRE DAME—Chet Ostrowski, Chicgo senior who has been switched from left end to first string right guard, is out for several days with the flu.

Service Club Golf, Dinner On Monday

The annual Kiwanis-Lions-Rotary golf tournament and dinner will be held at the Escanaba Golf club Monday afternoon and evening. Those who do not plan to play golf are urged to attend the dinner.

Participants may tee off any time after 3:30. Dinner will be served at 6:30.

The Trojans have been beaten by Gladstone and St. Norbert high school in two starts. Coach St. Germain's squad is riddled with injuries suffered in the rough St. Norbert game and he announced several changes in the starting lineup.

St. Joe Starters

In the backfield for St. Joe, Jim Gravelle will probably open at right halfback, Dan Marsicek will be at fullback in place of John Martinac, Bill Baker will be switched from quarter to left half to replace Pete Kutches and Jerry McDonough will step in at the quarterback post.

Bob Sendenburgh and Bill Maycunich will be at ends, John Jungles and Bob Pepin at tackles, Jim Cashion and Harlon Pepin at guards and Tom Brien at center. Several of the players were held from practice sessions the past week to recuperate from injuries.

Broncos Seek Revenge

"We'd like to get into the win column tomorrow, but it looks doubtful with all the injuries," Coach St. Germain said today. Kutches, backfield star, has a broken wrist that will keep him out of action for another week or so.

For the Broncos, it will be an opportunity to gain revenge on St. Joe. New at football, Bark River has dropped three straight to Trojans, 28-0, 46-0 and 26-0. Not only will the Broncos be seeking their first point against St. Joe but they will be all out for victory.

Coach Paul Winnikainen will stick with his starting lineup which dumped Rock 38-6 last week. Fullback Joe LaVigne paced the Broncos with three touchdowns.

Newberry Indians Hand Blue Devils 29-0 Loss

NEWBERRY (Special)—The Newberry Indians stretched their unbeaten streak to 18 and retained possession of the "Little Brown Jug" last night by handing the Soo Blue Devils a 29-0 loss on the Lock City gridiron.

A huge crowd of 3,400 spectators braved wet and chilly weather to watch the game.

Newberry took an 8-0 lead in the first quarter and scored once in the second and twice in the

Bob Carlson Posts 287 Single Game; Leagues To Start

Early season keggers continue to rattle the pins at the Arcade alleys with mid-season abandon.

Robert Carlson, bowling with Red Holmes, splashed a 287 count for the season's high single game to date. Holmes posted a neat 246.

Classic league play begins Tuesday evening at 7 p. m. Industrial league bowling opens Wednesday at 7. Paper Mill gets under way Thursday at 7. Teachers Thursday at 4 p. m. and Students Friday at 7.

Touch Football Meeting Will Be Held Monday Eve.

A practice session and reorganizational meeting of the Escanaba adult touch football league will be held Monday evening at 7 at Memorial field.

The program will be sponsored again this season by the recreation department. All players who are interested are invited to the meeting.

Games will be played twice a week, Monday and Wednesday evenings. Teams in the league will be St. Claire, Mike's Bar, Power & Light, St. Ann's CYO and Harnischfeger.

Montreal To Play In Little Series

(By The Associated Press)

The Montreal Royals, having wrapped up all of the team honors in the International League, returned home today to await their opponent in the Little World Series.

The American Association representative will be either St. Paul or Milwaukee. Milwaukee holds a 2-1 edge in their best of seven series. The first three games of the Little World Series will be played in Montreal.

The Royals, after winning the pennant handily, wrapped up their fifth Governors' cup championship with just about as much ease. They whipped the Syracuse Chiefs 18-9 last night for their fourth victory in five games.

St. Paul was out to even up the American Association final playoff today after winning its first game in the series, 7-5, from Milwaukee last night.

Polio In College Cuts Grid Slate

NEW YORK—(AP) — Columbia and Princeton universities will play only eight football games this season as the result of the cancellation of their opening encounter Sept. 29 because two Lions' players are suffering from polio.

Columbia decided yesterday to cancel the game after Bernard Jansson an end, and Donald Page, a tackle, were hospitalized.

Both players became ill at Columbia's Lakeside, Conn., training camp. They are 21-year old seniors.

Score Safety

Center Jim Anderson gave the Indians their first two points early in the initial period. He smashed through to tackle Bob Mason behind the Soo goal line for a safety.

Later in the same period, Fullback Jack Shimmings plunged over from the two yard line for the first Indian TD. The Indians failed to rush the point after, their first extra point missed this season.

Late in the second quarter, Anderson blocked a Soo punt on the 12-yard line and two plays later Tom Taylor, halfback, reaped paydirt on an end run. Jim Boggs ran the extra point to give the Indians a 15-0 lead.

Newberry was unable to score in the third period but Boggs broke loose for a sensational 70-yard punt return to set up the third Indian TD. He gathered in the ball on his own 15, headed for the sideline and sprinted to the Soo 15 before he was stopped.

Pass For TD

Early in the final quarter Boggs plunged from the three-yard line to score and Charley Villeneuve ran the extra point, score 22-0.

A few minutes later Tackle Gus Swanson recovered a fumble on the 26. Two passes, Villeneuve to End Bob Woods, put the ball in the end zone. Reserve Halfback Londo passed to End Ron Chamberlain for the extra point to close the Newberry scoring.

Soo, loser of three straight this season, gained only 16 yards rushing. The Blue Devils picked up 53 on passes.

Newberry reeled off 134 yards on the ground and 53 in the air.

Detroit Lions Cop 28-14 Win

New York Yankees Fall In Exhibition

HOUSTON, Tex. — (AP) — The Detroit Lions kept their hot exhibition game streak going last night by running away from the New York Yankees 28-14.

With Detroit's Bobby Layne the big star, the two National professional football league teams performed before 48,000 fans here.

Layne, former University of Texas star, made the home folks feel good by throwing three touchdowns passes and scoring one touchdown himself.

Doak Walker of the Lions kicked four extra points, besides hauling in several of Layne's throws. Layne completed 19 of 25 attempts for 214 yards.

New York scoring: touchdowns, Young, Tahafarro. Conversions, Johnson 2.

Detroit scoring: touchdowns, Doran, Hart, Swiacki, Layne. Conversions, Walker 4.

Jaycees Entertain Little Leaguers At Dinner Tuesday

The Escanaba Junior Chamber of Commerce will put the finishing touches on one of the most successful first year activities this city has seen in a good many years when they entertain Escanaba State Champion Little Leaguers at the House of Ludington next Tuesday evening at 6:45.

Approximately 100 Jaycees and guests are expected to attend the recognition banquet and members are urged to contact John Arnold at 2505-W for reservations. The guest speaker for the evening will be Supt. of Schools Murphy of Hurley, Wis. who is a strong advocate of organized youth activities as a curb to juvenile delinquency.

Bob Wagner, local sportscaster, will be the master of ceremonies for the evening with Don Estebo, chairman of the Jaycee youth activities and Ken Gunderman of the city recreation board presenting the awards.

Michigan Tech, Stevens Point Play 13-13 Tie

STEVENS POINT, Wis. — Stevens Point college and Michigan Tech slogged over a rain-swept gridiron here last night to a 13-13 tie.

Michigan Tech held a 13-6 lead well into the final quarter but then Dave Bliese slid over from the two and Al Due converted the point to tie the game.

Both Husky touchdowns were scored by Bob Wolney, the first on a one-yard line plunge in the first quarter and the second on a bootleg play that carried eight yards in the second period. Joe Gemignani converted the point.

Stevens Point's other marker was scored by Byron Purchatzke on a statue of liberty play that covered 20 yards.

Michigan Tech 7 6 0 0—13 Stevens Point 6 0 0 0—13

Scoring—Michigan Tech: Touchdowns, Wolney (2); conversion, Gemignani; Stevens Point: touchdowns, Purchatzke, Bliese; conversions, Due.

BOWL MONDAY NIGHT

Powers Tops Rock 25-0 To Remain Unbeaten On Grid

POWERS (Special)—Coach Jerry Anzalone's Powers Tigers remained undefeated and unscathed upon yesterday by posting a 25-0 victory over Rock at the Rock gridiron. It was Rock's second straight loss.

The four Powers backfield men shared scoring honors, each tallying one TD. Powers scored one touchdown in each period on the rain-drenched gridiron.

Powers worked the opening kickoff to the three yard line before losing the ball on downs. Rock was unable to gain and punted. The Tigers drove the ball back to the 11-yard line from where Ray Wells, right halfback, swept left end to score standing up. The placement kick for extra point failed and the quarter ended with Powers leading 6-0.

26-Yard TD

Relying exclusively on a ground attack, Powers pushed over mid-field in the second quarter and Left Halfback Don O'Neil carried the ball for 26 yards around left end to score. Quarterback John Henderson's kick was good to increase the margin to 13-0.

In the third quarter, Fullback Dave Lawrence had his chance and slanted off tackle for three yards and the third Powers touchdown. The kick was wide, scored 18-0.

Wells set up the final TD in the fourth period. Taking the ball on the Rock 11 yard line, he started for left end, cut sharply into the center of the line and bucked to the one-yard line. Henderson completed the backfield cycle by sneaking over from the quarterback slot.

Powers did not attempt one pass in the game, while Rock threw only a few. Right Guard Don Bel-lefueh, 170-pound junior, stood out in the Powers line. Jim Corry, center, and Bob Lawrence, end, also drew praise from Coach Anzalone.

Powers plays a return game with Florence next Saturday.

Manistique Host To Gladstone Tonight

MANISTIQUE — The Manistique Emeralds will be host to the Gladstone Braves in a feature Great Lakes Conference football game tonight at Hall field. Game time is 8:30.

Gladstone is undefeated in two starts this season and Coach Don Pfothauer's Braves are rated pre-game favorites to extend the streak to three. Manistique enters the game with a record of one win, two losses.

Tigers Hang 7-6 Loss On Indians

DETROIT — (AP)—Manager Al Lopez, brooding but still unbowed, should have a canvas draped over the Briggs stadium scoreboard today when his Cleveland Indians again engage the frisky Detroit Tigers.

The first-place New York Yankees, now leading the Tribe by a game and a half, seemingly put the whammy on their chief foes by long-distance as well as personal touch.

Cleveland, apparently given a sharp case of jitters watching the scoreboard blink out the tale of New York's 5-1 win over Boston, played a bit on the schoolboy side in losing to Detroit 7-6 yesterday.

Mutch Sharp

There can hardly be any other explanation for a 22-game winner like Bob Feller blowing a 5-0 lead than that the Indians had one eye on the Yankee-Red Sox score and the other, a bit hazy, on the offerings of reliever Freddy Hutchinson, a whale of a pitcher yesterday. Hutchinson allowed two hits in seven and two-third innings.

An hour after the game Lopez still was studying his toes in pensive mood. He knew the Tribe had lost a big one. The Indians now have only five games left, against eight for the Yanks. Cleveland has lost three more games than New York. Another loss to Detroit today probably would cook Cleveland's goose for keeps in the waning pennant run.

Lopez shook his head gloomily. "If the ball didn't stick in the webbing of Bobby Avila's glove in the second inning, we'd have had a double play," mused Lopez. "Instead, George Kell is safe at first and Detroit makes three runs."

But that didn't explain an error in the same inning by shortstop Ray Boone which produced one Detroit run and set up another in the three-run spurt which tied the score at 5-5.

Muff For Fly

And then there was a three-player fielding lapse on a pop to short right by Vic Wertz which led to another Tiger run in the fifth.

"On well," said Lopez to nobody in particular, "we're not out of it yet. Those Yankees still have seven games left against the Red Sox, a mighty tough assignment."

Lopez called upon Bob Lemon (17-13) to tackle Detroit's Bob Cain (11-12) in today's second game of the three-game set here.

His choice in Sunday's finale probable will be Mike Garcia (20-12), a member with Feller and Early Wynn (20-12) of Cleveland's select trio of 20-game winners.

Feller escaped his first defeat, after four straight wins, against Detroit, when he beat a third inning retreat which hung the loss on Steve Gromek. Gromek made his chief mistake by yielding the first major league homer by Catcher Frank House, Detroit's $75,000 bonus baby, in the sixth inning. That was the win margin.

It was only Detroit's second win against 16 defeats facing Cleveland this season.

No Dope Traffic At Ann Arbor

ANN ARBOR, Mich.—Reports of "chloroform sniffing parties" in the Ann Arbor-Ypsilanti area kept federal agents in the continuing investigation of Nurse Pauline Campbell's slaying today.

A broadened inquiry went on with the three confessed young killers of the nurse in jail awaiting their murder examination.

Reports of the "sniffing" parties were attributed to the "teen-aged trio" but federal men said they had failed to verify them.

Further, the Ypsilanti-Ann Arbor district apparently got a clean bill of health as far as any extensive narcotics traffic was concerned.

Dope peddlers disappeared from the district early in 1950, said Joseph Bell, supervisor of the federal narcotics bureau for Michigan and Ohio.

Bell said the traffic, if any, was "slight."

Nurse Campbell's confessed killers—William Morey 3rd, May Pell and David Royal—were clapped back behind bars again after their arraignment yesterday.

They'll next appear in court Sept. 28 for formal examination Municipal Judge Francis L. O'Brien ordered them held without bond.

MARSHALL PLAN AT WORK — Gen. George C. Marshall, who retired recently as secretary of Defense, finds time now to visit with his wife, Katherine, in the flower garden on their estate, the "Dodona Manor," at Leesburg, Va. The general's wish to spend more time relaxing at Leesburg is believed to be one of the "personal reasons" that led to his retirement as defense chief.

Chicago Cops Outrun Bogus Clark Street Blind Man And Pal

CHICAGO — (P) — An elderly man, limping, suddenly threw away his white cane, ripped off his dark glasses and dashed down the street yesterday.

He was followed apace by another elderly man who had been leading him.

Passers-by in Erie Street on the near North Side were startled as the "blind" man took off.

Then they saw two younger men—police detectives—take up the chase. The detectives, Cornelius Graney and Earl Gorman, started after the elderly man after they overheard the "blind" man say to his leader: "There's two coppers. Let's go."

It was a very short chase for the fast-moving detectives.

They said the man posing as blind was James McGorick, 61, and his companion was Leo Hogan, 61. They said they had been putting on the blind man act in Clark Street taverns and reaping a harvest of coin from patrons.

Both men, whom police said had long records of arrests for confidence game violations and narcotics, were held for investigation.

Fugitive Nebraska Desperado Captured Without Gun Battle

CHATTANOOGA, Tenn.—(P)—Fugitive Kenneth Allen Kitts—haggard after a week of dodging police—gave up without a fight when FBI agents swooped down on him in a tavern near Fayetteville, Tenn., yesterday.

The 34-year-old convict, who escaped from Nebraska officers last Friday was brought here to await federal action after his dramatic capture.

About 20 FBI agents and state police, armed with submachine guns swarmed around the club and arrested the desperado as he attempted to flee. Kitts, unarmed, surrendered passively.

"Don't shoot! You've got me," he yelled.

Tennessee officers picked up his trail after finding an abandoned automobile in Springfield, Tenn., which bore his fingerprints.

Former VFW Head In Michigan Dies

DETROIT — (P) — Otto Beaudoin, former state commander of the Veterans of Foreign Wars, died today of a heart attack. He was 44.

Widely known among war veterans in Michigan, he was a member of the Michigan Veterans Trust Fund committee from its start. He was a past national chief of staff of the VFW. He was a native of Grand Rapids.

He is survived by his wife, Margaret, and his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Beaudoin.

Funeral services will be held at Christ the King Catholic church here, the time to be announced later.

Premier Of Iran Asks Britain To Reopen Oil Talks

TEHRAN, Iran — (P)—Using a mysterious bit of back door diplomacy, Premier Mohammed Mossadeq has asked Britain to reopen stalled oil talks and has dropped his threat of an ultimatum.

Authoritative Iranian sources disclosed today a high court official handed an unsigned note containing Mossadeq's proposals for a third round of talks to British Ambassador Sir Francis Shepherd Thursday night.

Mossadeq dropped his announced plan to deliver his ultimatum demanding British action in 15 days because of the approaching election in Britain, an Iranian official said.

Iranian officials said Mossadeq realized Prime Minister Clement Attlee's governing labor party could not submit to any ultimatum while campaigning against the Conservatives. Winston Churchill has led the opposition party in blasting the Laborites with charges of being weak in dealing with Iran's nationalization of Anglo-Iranian oil company properties.

Sen. Taft Winds Up Tour Of Minnesota And South Dakota

FARGO, N. D.—(P)—Senator Taft of Ohio winds up busy tour of Minnesota and North Dakota with an address here tonight.

The Ohioan's schedule today includes a luncheon, a press conference, a reception sponsored by Republican women and a dinner.

The welcome mat was rolled out for Taft yesterday at Grand Forks. He was kept busy with a breakfast, a parade, and an inspection of a new REA steam power plant.

In a major address last night, the senator outlined a seven-point program that he said would bolster our defenses and reduce Communist power.

Taft's seven points included the building up of our air force "until we have control over this country and the oceans that surround it."

He also called for the maintaining of an army of "reasonable size." Taft said the army "need not be anything like as large as an army as would be necessary to begin tomorrow a land war on the continent of Europe or the continent of Asia."

Wisconsin-Michigan Power Co. Expands Capital $5,000,000

LANSING—(P)—The Michigan Public Service commission today approved the application of the Wisconsin-Michigan Power Co. To increase its capital structure from $18,000,000 to $23,000,000.

The company, which serves part of Wisconsin and the Iron Mountain area in Michigan, had Michigan approval to issue 3,500,000 first mortgage bonds at competitive bidding and 100,000 new shares of common stock at $20 each.

The new issues have already been approved by the Wisconsin commission, but must still be approved by the federal securities and exchange commission.

The company told the Michigan commission the money would be used for expansion projects which include three new hydro-electric plants in Michigan, two on the paint river.

Governor Of Quezon Freed By Outlaws For $15,000 Ransom

MANILA—(P)—The governor of Quezon province, ransomed from kidnappers who held him three days and nights, today entered a Manila hospital to recover from exposure and exhaustion.

Physicians said 42-year-old Goy. Gregorio Santayana was pushed almost to the limit of his endurance on marches his captors forced him to make in the rugged mountain country along the border of Laguna and Quezon provinces.

Santayana was freed earlier today after his family paid his kidnappers a reported $15,000 ransom.

Santayana, his chauffeur and his bodyguard were seized 50 miles South of Manila Wednesday. Santayana told newsmen his captors were not Communist hiks but "outlaws."

Blunders In Fund Raising Tactics Shame Democrats

letters got out and that he had ordered it stopped at once. Observers wonder why Williams wasn't smart enough to make this one public before the Republicans got a chance to whack him again.

In the latest incident the name of Howard Hunt, finance director of the Democratic state central committee, again appears as the instigator. It was he who sent the begging letters to Alger and other Republicans.

Not In Doghouse
One such slip could be forgiven as a mistake but the last one was definitely stupid.

Yet reports from the Democratic inner circle indicate that Mr. Hunt is not in the dog house and that no one seems to be disposed to remove him before he commits another blunder.

Williams himself called the letter "unfortunate and capable of misinterpretation." And you may be sure the Republicans will misinterpret or interpret it—as you like.

In substance, Hunt wrote men who have been recommended for appointment to postmasterships that their victory was just in sight, that he had just noticed they hadn't coughed up any cash, that of course their appointments didn't depend on making a little offering, but that, all in all, "I am sure no lengthy argument is needed to convince you of the importance of contributing to the party of your choice."

Legal But Stupid
Nothing could be balder and blunter than that.

There appears to be nothing illegal about the letter because the recipients are not under the federal Hatch Act until they are appointed.

But it was the kind of downright stupidity which the Democrats cannot afford to continue.

Mr. Hunt, it is explained, is a graduate of the charity fund-raising school of solicitors, where it is considered good form to put the slug on delicately but firmly in the name of humanity.

You don't do it that way in politics, Mr. Hunt.

Fort Meade Stockade Escape Tunnel Found, Dug With Tin Cans

FORT MEADE, Md.—(P)—A few more feet and a few more canfuls of dirt and prisoners in a Fort Meade stockade barracks would have had a tunnel to the outside.

But a tunnel the prisoners were digging with tin cans was discovered by Major Bryan Griffith, post prison officer, just a few feet away from its apparent goal—a clump of trees outside a double-wire fence surrounding the stockade.

Major Griffith said the tunnel was 10 feet underground and extended about 50 feet toward the fence when it was discovered Thursday night. The officer said rumors that a tunnel was being dug started an investigation.

There were about 240 prisoners in the stockade, where minor military offenders are held. None was in the tunnel when it was found.

Solon Says Postal Job-Seekers Had To Pay Democrats

WASHINGTON—(P)—A Republican congressman seeks congressional investigation into recent post office appointments in Michigan.

Rep. Meader (R-Mich.), making the request Thursday charged that Democrats had sought party contributions from the postal job-seekers. A federal probe would determine the extent of the practice, he said.

Broad Hint In Letter
The evidence, the Ann Arbor Republican submitted a letter which he said had been written by Howard P. Hunt, finance director of the Democratic state central committee in Michigan.

The letter, to a prospective postmaster, pointed out that he was not a Democratic party contributor. A party pledge card and business reply envelope were enclosed, Meader said.

Meader's request drew immediate replies from Michigan Democrats.

In Lansing, Governor G. Mennen Williams said that he had repudiated the fund-raising letter and stopped its circulation after it had gone to 20 of a long list of postmaster candidates.

ment and to sabotage the automobiles of competing bidders for delivery jobs. Doherty said the union had defected the 14, employed at Vancouver, Wash., and if it had lost, similar suits could have been filed across the country.

"Only President Truman can give relief to the oppressed postal worker," Doherty said. He explained that he meant the removal of Donaldson.

The AFL convention recesses for the week end, but with plenty of work still facing the 700 delegates next week. On Monday, the sessions will be devoted to political action—especially what the AFL's stand shall be in the crucial 1952 presidential and congressional elections.

prospective appointees."

The "three or four" persons who had responded to the letters were returned the $95 they contributed," Staebler said.

Senator Blair Moody (D-Mich.) said that he had recommended 76 persons for postal jobs since he took office last April. He had accepted suggestions of the Democratic state central committee, he said.

But he denied any knowledge of the letter which Meader produced.

"If I find that anyone has given money to the Democratic party for the purpose of getting a postal recommendation, I will withdraw his recommendations," Moody said.

Meader's plea for an investigation, however, was seconded by Republican Central Committee Chairman Owen J. Cleary.

Cleary wired Michigan congressmen that he was "shocked at the disclosure that the Democratic party in Michigan would baldly ask campaign contributions from those applying for postmasterships, with the implied threat that they would not be appointed if the contributions were not forthcoming."

The governor also disavowed any connection with these letters, and said that he had ordered the practice stopped after he had discovered it.
